"MISSING" BARONET RETURNS

REAPPEARS AFTER 19 YEARS

London, Apr. 21. The piquant reappearance of a baronet who has been "missing" for over nineteen years, occurred yesterday when "Francis Laurence John Barrow," the fourth Baronet, who is 70 years of age in August, gave notice at a London Register Office of his forthcoming marriage.

The discovery of Sir Francis Barrow recalls the fruitless S.O.S. broadcast in January last year when his son was critically ill.

In an interview, the returned Baronet declared that he relinquished the title twenty years ago and parted from his wife, carrying on the profession of an architect.

He kept himself informed of his family's doings and actually lived unrecognised near his son's home. Late last night "Mr." Barrow dramatically telephoned to his son and one daughter. He succeeded his father in 1900.—Reuter.

LONGEST AIR LINE IN WORLD

SPECIAL PLANES BEING BUILT

London, Apr. 20. It is expected that the first of eight four-engined passenger monoplanes of lightweight strip steel construction, designed for the Imperial Airways Cairo-Cape

The inauguration of the London-Cape air route, showing the machines now employed.

Town route will be ready for preliminary trials within the next few weeks and that the entire fleet will be in service towards the end of the year.

The fleet is being constructed by Armstrong Whitworth Aircraft Limited of Coventry, at a cost of £150,000 each.

The machines will weigh over eight tons, of which over two tons will be available for the accommodation of the crew, passengers, mails and goods. The maximum and cruising speeds will be respectively 150 and 120 miles hourly and a feature of the new machines is that they will be able to alight at 50 miles an hour. With the new machines in commission, the London-Cape Town flight may, in due course, be reduced from 11 to 9 days.—British Wireless.

MISCARRIAGE OF JUSTICE

ANOTHER BREWER INDEMNIFIED

Bengaluru, Apr. 20. A verdict of not guilty, an order for the costs to be refunded and for the grant of an indemnity of £1,800, were the results of the retrial to-day of Mr. A. J. Brewar, a British ship's officer, who was arrested at Bengaluru in 1927 and convicted of petty theft, spending a year in prison.

The retrial was due to energetic British diplomatic action with the Lisbon Government.

Brewar always denied his guilt, insisting that it was a case of mistaken identity.—Reuter.

POWERFUL MOSCOW SPEECH

SUNGARI BRIDGE WRECK ALLEGATIONS

PLEA FOR PEACE EFFORT

Moscow, Apr. 20. THE FACTS HAVE PROVED THAT IN JAPANESE MILITARY IMPERIALISTIC CIRCLES THERE ARE ADVOCATES OF FAR-REACHING AGGRESSION WHICH WOULD NOT BE STOPPED AT THE CAPTURE OF MANCHURIA.

Thus declared M. Molotoff, one of the leading figures in the Soviet Government, in the course of a powerful speech at the Trades Union Congress in Moscow to-day.

M. Molotoff emphasised the paramount importance of the Soviet maintaining peaceful and neighbourly relations with Japan. "There are people," he said, "from White Guard degenerates, from landlords and capitalists down to agents of the Imperialistic Powers and Chinese generals who are ready to defend their interests at any price, all of whom are striving to disrupt Russo-Japanese relations."—Reuter.

The Tass Agency publishes reports from Harbin indicating that the "White Guard" newspapers in Harbin and the Japanese newspaper published in the Russian language, are pursuing a campaign of violent provocation following the abortive attempt by White Russians to blow up the C.E.R. railway bridge across the Sungari River and several other C.E.R. properties.

Authoritative circles in Moscow declare there is no doubt whatever that these newspapers are directed and inspired from the same source that was and is interested in concealing the real inspirers and organizers of those attempts, and in ascribing the latter to citizens of the U.S.S.R.

JAPANESE DUPLEXITY. It is considered characteristic that the Harbin newspapers which now continue the provocative campaign, stubbornly conceal the fact that when the attempt was made to blow up the Sungari River bridge the watchman who was killed by the criminals was a Soviet citizen, while his comrade, a White Guard, escaped without injury.

The entire investigation of the affair is now virtually in the hands of White Guard elements. There have been mass arrests of Soviet citizens, 30 of whom, according to reliable reports, have been subjected to torture.

MA CHAN SHAN.

The Tass Agency has also been authorized to refute the reports regarding the alleged stay of General Mr. Chan-shan at Blagoveshchensk and his alleged connexion with the U.S.S.R.

These reports, it is stated, are pure inventions. General Ma has been neither to Blagoveshchensk nor to any other point in Soviet territory. The rumours of a connexion between General Ma and Soviet representatives are absolutely false.

Authoritative circles consider that these rumours originate from the same source as those spread five months ago, when the Japanese supplied munitions to General Ma from Dairen and proceeded to charge the U.S.S.R. with having done it.

PARTY AT WINDSOR CASTLE

London, Apr. 20. H.R.H. Princess Elizabeth will spend her 6th birthday to-morrow at Windsor Castle, where her grandparents, the King and Queen, are in residence.

The King's chef has baked a birthday cake, decorated with six candles, for the tea party, at which Their Majesties, the Duke and Duchess of York, their youngest daughter, Princess Margaret, the Prince of Wales, with the Princess Royal, and Lord harewood, and their two sons, will be present.—British Wireless.

SECOND BRITISH BUDGET DEPENDENT UPON LAUSANNE

London, Apr. 20. Mr. Stanley Baldwin, replying to a Parliamentary question as to the desirability of having a second budget after the Lausanne and Ottawa Conferences, said: "he was unable to go beyond the Chancellor of the Exchequer's statement that proposals might have to be submitted to Parliament later to give effect to the measures agreed."

Scottish Cup Thrills

Dashing Display by Rangers

SEVENTH VICTORY

Glasgow, Apr. 20. Glasgow Rangers defeated Kilmarnock in the Scottish Cup Final replay by three goals to nil in a match full of thrills to-day.

Over a hundred thousand spectators saw the Rangers win the Cup for the seventh time.

The excitement throughout was intense. It was, indeed, so great sometimes that the referee had to caution the players of both sides for allowing bad temper to creep into the game.

Kilmarnock's goal had an extremely narrow escape in the very first minute, the Rangers commencing with spirit which suggested that they were not likely to be denied victory on this occasion. Nibloe (who Rumour has it is likely to be playing for Chelsea next season) miskicked in the goal-mouth and nearly let the Rangers in.

Relentless Pressure.

The Kilmarnock defenders were subjected to relentless pressure and in the tenth minute opened the scoring. English's overhead kick was punched clear by Bell, but Fleming, rushing in, netted with fast drive from just outside the penalty area.

Aitken fired in a long shot in a Kilmarnock revival, but Hamilton had no difficulty in clearing. This was the first time that he had handled the ball in the first quarter of an hour's play.

Again Kilmarnock found themselves up against it. Their defence was stout, but Morton found Fleming a hot handful. There was no further scoring before the interval.

Second Half.

The second half was singularly lacking in sensational incidents. The Rangers attacked strongly. Archibald, Marshall, McPhail and Fleming putting in clever work individually, but being unable for some time to penetrate a splendid defence.

Kilmarnock enjoyed a bigger share of the game for some time, forcing the Rangers' inside forwards to drop back to assistance of their defence. Eventually, however, the Rangers forwards again struck a happy harmony and McPhail scored after 25 minutes play in this half, English getting the third goal ten minutes later.

The Teams.

Alan Morton was out of the Rangers team for this match, the sides lining up as follows:

Rangers:—Hamilton; Gray, McAlay; McIldejohn, Simpson, Brown; Archibald, Marshall, English, McPhail and Fleming.

Kilmarnock:—Bell; Leslie, Nibloe; Morton, Smith, McEwan; Connell, Muir, Maxwell, Duncan and Aitkin.—Reuter.

New York, Apr. 20. Henry ("Red") Johnson, Colonel Lindbergh's former chauffeur, has been deported to Europe aboard the liner Europe.

It will be recalled that he was closely questioned by the immigration authorities when the Lindbergh baby was kidnapped.

THREE PREMIERS TO MEET

DISARMAMENT PARLEY

RAMSAY MAC. PARIS

Paris, Apr. 20.

Quite a surprise has been created by M. Tardieu's sudden decision to accompany Mr. Ramsay MacDonald to Geneva, despite the electoral campaign.

The decision is taken as an emphasis on M. Tardieu's personal urgency that he should go to Geneva simultaneously with Mr. Ramsay MacDonald, Dr. Briand and H. L. Stimson.

No communiqué was issued after the meeting of M. Tardieu and Mr. Ramsay MacDonald, the Quai D'Orsay which lasted forty minutes, but M. Tardieu told journalists that they had discussed everything, especially Geneva.

The Main Topic.

From this statement, it may be inferred that disarmament was the main topic. M. Tardieu did not display pessimism regarding the disarmament outlook.

The British Prime Minister presided at the usual weekly Cabinet meeting this morning and after luncheon left by air line for Paris in wet and boisterous weather. He had arranged in advance to meet M. Tardieu this evening. His journey to Geneva, where he will make an important speech at the Disarmament Conference, is being continued to-night. Before leaving London he was seen by his occultist.

Geneva Resolution.

In the General Commission on the Disarmament Conference, in Geneva, the British delegate, Sir John Simon, moved that without prejudice to other proposals to discuss under later heads, the Conference declares its approval of the principle of qualitative disarmament, namely, the selection of certain classes or descriptions of weapons, with a view to prohibiting their possession or use by any State.

He expressed the view that qualitative disarmament was more effective as the most important thing was that no State should continue to live under a system in which all classes of armaments were allowed.

Rival Plans.

A proposal on the lines of Sir John Simon's resolution is before the conference in the plan put forward by Italy and the United States. Another plan for the international control of certain armaments has been advanced by France. The Yugoslavia delegation supported the latter scheme to-day and Sir John Simon's resolution was approved by the German delegate, Dr. Nadolny, was also supported by Sir Thomas Wilford, New Zealand, and Sigismondo Grandi, Italy. The debate was adjourned until to-morrow.

CONTRACT BRIDGE.

By W. E. McKenney,
Secretary, American Bridge
League.

In the straight forcing system, slams are arrived at when intelligent bidding between partners reveals that the combined two hands hold seven or eight quick tricks. Seven to seven and one-half quick tricks in the two hands will generally produce a small slam, while eight to eight and one-half quick tricks will generally produce a grand slam.

The beginner at contract should remember, however, that there are many pitfalls on the road to a successful slam—such as distribution, duplication of values and so forth. An almost certain small slam should not be jeopardized for a doubtful grand slam, and it is better to miss the few slams that come up in an evening than to sacrifice the many game bonuses. Again let us warn you that there are thousands of points more lost in each year in unsuccessful slams than are won with slams that are bid and successfully made.

Sacrifice Bidding.

Sacrifice bidding plays an important part in the game of contract. You should familiarize yourself with contract scoring so that you can readily sum up the possible number of points a pair will make if their contract is successful, and by contract bidding, you may be able to take a worthwhile sacrifice.

Very often you are called upon to choose whether to double the bid of an opponent or to bid for game yourself. Under the present contract scoring, the various scores are roughly valued as follows:

A partial score of 40 points or more, due to the advantageous position it gives you, is worth about 200 points.

The first game (or first leg) is worth about 400 points.

The rubber game (or second leg) is worth about 600 points.

A successful small slam, if not vulnerable, is worth about 1,000 points.

A successful small slam, if vulnerable, is worth about 1,400 points.

Contract rubbers average to run between 900 and 1,000 points.

It does not generally pay to take over a 600-point penalty at any time.

The proportion of contract scoring to auction is about two and one-half to one, although contract rubbers generally average to last a longer period of time, which might reduce this figure to two to one.

When a side is vulnerable and they make a game-going declaration which you double, the swing can easily average to be worth two average rubber games; therefore, don't double doubtful contracts, especially when it will give them game. Partners will soon learn that through sound bidding they can accurately determine the number of high card tricks in their hand, and there is not much guess work in penalty doubles.

Analyzing the straight forcing system, we find that:

1.—Four card suit bidding plays an important part.

2.—Original bids must show de-

The dime-a-dance girl

BY JOAN CLAUTON

BEGIN HERE TODAY.

Beautiful Ellen Rossiter, a dancer in Barclay's Department Store, lives with her mother, Molly Rossiter, her elder sister, Myra, and her young brother, Mike. The two girls support their mother, Mrs. Barclay, who is unable to pay the rent. Steven Barclay, 57, and Ellen's employer, lends her an evening dress so she can secure a job nights dancing at Dressland. At a dance hall she meets Harrowgate Lister, Harrowgate, an actor. Later she breaks an engagement with Larry when she learns he is engaged to Elizabeth Bowes, a debutante. However, when he comes to see her again, Harrowgate explains she makes another date with him for Sunday. Her mother and sister favour Barclay's suit. Sunday morning Ellen and her mother drive to the gift shop in engagement with Barclay. Molly bursts into tears and Ellen, repentant, promises she will do her best to fall in love with the older man.

CHAPTER XII

"How do you know it's Mr. Barclay?" Myra demanded as Ellen teared from the bed, reached for a flannel dressing gown and belted it over her pyjamas.

"He asked yesterday if he might call her some time."

"Did you give him Mrs. Clancy's number?"

"No, but I guess it's on file. He must have looked up my card at the store."

The bedroom door opened and Molly entered. She was visibly excited. Her black, curly hair stood out in little draft-tails. Her blue eyes blazed. For once she had not even taken time to powder her pretty face.

"Hurry, child," she said to Ellen. "You mustn't keep Mr. Barclay waiting. It's bad enough having no phone."

Again Ellen felt a rising irritation. "What makes you so sure it's Mr. Barclay?" she snapped.

"I've got a hunch," Molly admitted, dimpling and smiling mysteriously. "Don't be so slow, honey."

"I can't run through the halls without stockings on, can I?"

Ellen took a quick brush at her hair, slipped into pumps and ran out of the apartment and down the four flights of stairs. The only telephone in the house was in Mrs. Clancy's apartment on the first floor. The six families who occupied the building were, in the generous phrase of Mrs. Clancy, "perfectly welcome to use the phone so long as they pay for outgoing calls." And so long as they let Mrs. Clancy listen in on their business. Ellen had thought privately,

Sure enough, the fat, good-natured Irish woman was waiting in the hall at the foot of the stairs.

"What about him?" repeated Ellen.

"You said he'd asked you for a drive."

"So he did. I told him I couldn't go. I can't either. I have a date this afternoon with Larry. I thought it would be nice to bring him here afterwards for supper."

Molly shifted tactics. "I would like to have your friend for supper," she said, her eyes clear and limpid, "but it's out of the question, honey. There's not a clean tablecloth in the house for one thing; they're all at the laundry. Besides, Mrs. Clancy is coming up. I've already asked her."

Ellen suspected that her mother was being perverse. She was sure of it when Molly with an aggrieved air remarked that she supposed a daughter of hers would have too much pride to want to see a man already engaged to another woman. She struck home there. But she was not content to let the matter rest.

"Personally I think it rather odd of the Harrowgate boy to ask you for an engagement under the circumstances," said Molly. "In my day it would have been considered dishonourable."

"You don't know whether it's dishonourable or not," Ellen said angrily, ignoring her own secret doubts. "Larry has no way of knowing that I might consider the fact that he is engaged important. I don't consider it important. I like him—that's enough! This isn't the Victorian age after all."

"There's no use discussing it," observed Molly lightly. "We wouldn't agree, I'm sure."

Ellen returned to the bedroom. Myra was dressing but Molly had collapsed on the bed and was nibbling at a bit of toast. Both fell abruptly silent at Ellen's entrance and she realized that they had been discussing her. Let them, thought Ellen grimly.

"Won't you tell us about your call?" asked Molly, after a delicate interval of silence. "Or is it secret?"

"There's nothing much to tell," said Ellen airily. "It was Steven Barclay. He wanted me for a drive this afternoon."

"Ah!" said Molly. "There was another interval of silence. Myra looked sharply at her sister but Ellen's gaze was bland and innocent. Presently she said to her mother, "I'd like to invite a friend to supper."

"Who is it?" asked Molly. She thought she knew the answer. A look of complete astonishment crossed her face when Ellen corrected the impression.

"But Ellen!" she cried in dismay.

"What about Mr. Barclay?"

War weary but smiling, these officers and men of the heroic Chinese 19th Route army are shown at billets in their new lines. Cantonese boys, for the most part, the young leaders and their peasant followers went through the stiffest fighting of the Shanghai area—and kept on smiling.

men I could have married, but when I saw your father—"

"You loved him," Ellen broke in triumphantly. "And I don't and never could love Steven Barclay. Heavens! He's over 30 years older than I am!"

She had made a mistake. The point was Molly's.

"Ellen Rossiter! I never thought you'd speak to your mother like this. Your father was 25 years old when you returned the dress?"

"I don't think so."

Molly clasped her hands about her knees and stared dreamily out into the hot afternoon. A little smile flickered across her lips.

"I've been thinking," she remarked meditatively, "and believe you were right in declining his invitation this afternoon. He will appreciate you all the more for checking him at first. Men are like that."

"I didn't refuse for that reason and I'm sure you know I didn't," said Ellen in intense exasperation.

"We've gone over and over this and you know exactly how I feel. I can't think of anything so dishonest as encouraging a man I don't love."

"Well," countered Molly in well simulated surprise, "I for one can't understand your ethics. Do you think it less dishonest to go running around with a man who is not free, a man engaged to another girl?"

Ellen was halted. "I'm not proud of that part of it," she said in a shamed voice.

"The trouble is that you always believe you're right and I'm wrong," Molly continued in a sad little tone. "I'm older and more experienced. I'm your mother and you should respect my opinions."

"I can't see why any girl would want to risk her reputation—that's what you're doing—running around with a man who cared so little for her as Larry Harrowgate seems to care for you when—"

"When there is a chance of roping in a rich man," Ellen interrupted furiously.

"It's just as easy to love a rich man as a poor one," Molly agreed placidly, ignoring the storm alarms. "There were dozens of other

HOW THE LEAGUE COULD AID CHINA.

PLEA BY CHAIRMAN OF CHINA ASSOCIATION.

London, Apr. 20. A strong plea for cooperation between China and the League of Nations was made by Mr. S. F. Meyers, the Chairman, at the annual meeting of the China Association.

He declared that the League had been called upon to participate in solving a problem of international peace in the Far East endangering the world. The League could help China with men and money, and would not seek to establish foreign control in China but to show her how to control herself. He meant League tutelage and not tutelage, namely expert teaching of the arts of modern government without a vain attempt at Guardianship.

China could benefit much from outside assistance, while there was no doubt as to the advantages the west would obtain from a rehabilitated China.

With internal peace, the Chinese share of world trade, both as a producer and a consumer, would increase greatly.—Reuter.

ANOTHER ARREST

KREUGER'S ACCOUNTANT CONCERNED

Stockholm, Apr. 20. There has been a fourth arrest in connexion with the Kreuger affair, the auditor of the Kreuger and Toll company being apprehended to-day.

The other arrests were of three co-directors of Mr. Ivar Kreuger, head of the companies that crashed after his suicide in Paris. Charges of falsifying the balance sheets were brought against them.

The accountant's name is given as Wondler. He is a chartered accountant who, with two others was elected by a meeting of shareholders in 1930 to audit the company's accounts.—Reuter.

GREAT RUSSIAN PIANIST

VIEWS OF SYDNEY CRITICS

Another of the recent conquests of Alexander Brailowsky, who plays here on Friday, 29th Inst., at the King's Theatre, was in Australia where the young Russian pianist was hailed as a "God of his instrument".

Typical was the notice of the Sydney Sunday Times:—"Wizard of the Keys Thrills Big Audience."—Brailowsky, noted Russian pianist and idol of four continents, proved himself a veritable wizard of the keys. His artistry of interpretation, his sense of proportion, his poise, infinite capacity for conveying emotion, swept his audience into storms of applause, and his hands—the strong tapered hands of the artist—on the keyboard were sheer delight. Not since Paderewski played in Sydney have music lovers had such a feast of pianoforte music. The reception accorded the famous pianist was a tribute to his genius and to the musical taste of his hearers".

Other critics agreed. "The Sydney public is fortunate in the opportunity of hearing Brailowsky whose recitals are the most artistic events of a season notable for the visits of many celebrities", wrote the Morning Herald.

"He manifested the mind and spirit of the master musician, with technique to support his interpretation of the highest flights of the great master," reported the Sunday News.

"With each concert," decided the Daily Telegraph, "he has steadily emphasised his position in the front rank of world pianists."

Said the Sydney Sun:—"He is a player with an extraordinary individuality that attracts and commands admiration in every class of composition."

The Evening News acclaimed him "as the finest Chopin interpreter ever heard," and Truth felt "the instrument is his medium, the creative soul of the past his inspiration, his message flying to the eternities."

SCHNEIDER TRIO DELIGHT

FINE CLASSICAL PROGRAMME

The audience which gathered at the Helene May Institute last evening to hear the Schneider Trio's final recital were given a wonderful treat. In all departments of their work, the famous instrumentalists shone brilliantly and were loudly applauded by their listeners.

A rich offering of classical numbers was given, the programme being drawn from Beethoven, Schubert and Marx. Whilst all the numbers were faultlessly played, Beethoven's Trio in B Flat Major was especially fine, the interpretation, balance and tone being perfect.

The full programme was as follows:

Trio in B Flat Major, Op. 97, Beethoven.

(a) Allegro Moderato.
(b) Scherzo (Allegro).
(c) Andante Cantabile, ma poco con moto.

(d) Allegro Moderato. Trio Bharatasi, J. Marx.

(a) Full of fire, but not too fast.
(b) Adagietto.
(c) Scherzando.

(d) Danse—Finale. Trio in B Flat, 99, Schubert.

(a) Allegro Moderato.
(b) Andante un Poco, Mosso.
(c) Scherzo.
(d) Rondo—Finale.

Rain, which yesterday prevented the second series of exhibition tennis matches between Canton and Hongkong players taking place, also caused the cancellation of the event. G. Bodikker, the Canton champion, had to return to-day, and the organisers have decided to abandon the rest of the programme.

The War Office appears to be deeply concerned at the situation in North Manchuria where anti-Manchukuo troops are reported to have begun large scale operations "aiming at discrediting the Manchukuo's ability to maintain peace and order in the eyes of the League Commission, at the same time spreading reports for the purpose of disheartening the Manchukuo forces".

According to reports reaching here, Manchukuo troops have lost their fighting spirit and are falling back before anti-Government forces who are advancing without resistance.—Reuter's Morning Post Special.

HONGKONG TRADE STATISTICS

BRITISH PIECEGOODS INCREASE

According to the official returns compiled by the Statistical Branch of the Imports and Exports Department, the total value of imports of merchandise into the Colony during the first quarter of 1932 amounted to $170,746,693, a decrease of $16,887,883 as compared with the corresponding quarter of 1931. Exports totalled $117,621,133 a decline of $13,099,613.

For the twelve months ended March 31, 1932, imports were valued at $721,552,771, an increase of $9,153,591 as compared with the corresponding period in 1930-1931, while exports totalled $528,950,225 an increase of $31,994,201, the comparative figures being given below:

Imports Exports
1931/32 ... $682,017,053 $500,911,543
1930/31 ... 632,490,180 496,956,024
1931/32 ... 721,552,771 528,950,225

The most noticeable feature of the piece goods imports figures is the greatly increased share of this trade enjoyed by Great Britain in the first quarter of 1932, the British share amounting to 55.5 per cent., as against the Japanese share of 4.9 per cent., and the North China share of 24.3 per cent.

NO COLLUSION.

JAPANESE DENIALS OF SOVIET ACCUSATIONS.

Tokyo, Apr. 20. Emphasising that there never can be peace in the Far East without friendly relations between Russia and Japan, the War Office has issued a statement to the Press categorically denying the Soviet accusations of Japanese military aggression at the instigation of White Russians.

The accusation that the Japanese Army and White Russians are in collusion is characterised as a gross slander. It is asserted that the Army has never employed or assisted the Whites.

The statement declares that the Japanese military authorities are exerting their utmost efforts to restore peace and order in Manchuria and Mongolia, but they have absolutely no intention of violating the Soviet rights of territory.

In conclusion the statement hints that the completion of investigations into the dynamiting of the Japanese troops train is likely to reveal that Communists were implicated although reliance is placed on the word of a certain high Soviet official who is quoted as having complained that the activities of the lower grade Communists are frequently embarrassing.—Reuter.

Japanese Forces.

Tokyo, Apr. 20. That the despatch of further reinforcements to Manchuria may be necessary if the situation worsens is hinted at by the War Minister, in a press interview, which is given prominence in the vernacular papers.

Although the menace was not specified, it is believed that Gen. Araki meant the bandit situation rather than the position vis-a-vis the Soviet, as General Hirose, whose division has just relieved Gen. Tamon's at Harbin, is quoted as ridiculing reports of Russo-Japanese tension.—Reuter.

Rebels' Attempts at Discrediting.

Tokyo, Apr. 20.

The War Office appears to be deeply concerned at the situation in North Manchuria where anti-Manchukuo troops are reported to have begun large scale operations "aiming at discrediting the Manchukuo's ability to maintain peace and order in the eyes of the League Commission, at the same time spreading reports for the purpose of disheartening the Manchukuo forces".

According to reports reaching here, Manchukuo troops have lost their fighting spirit and are falling back before anti-Government forces who are advancing without resistance.—Reuter's Morning Post Special.

CHINA ACCEPTS LEAGUE PLAN

APPROVES LOCAL SETTLEMENT

Nanking, Apr. 20. Contrary to expectations the Foreign Office spokesman this evening announced that the Chinese Government had decided to accept the Geneva resolution and had instructed Mr. W. W. Yen accordingly.—Reuter.

Previously it was stated that the Government had sent instructions to the Chinese delegation at Geneva to reject the Committee of Nineteen's resolution, so long as it includes a "return to normal conditions" as a sine qua non for the Japanese withdrawal.—Reuter.

Majority Decision.

Geneva, Apr. 20. Some stir has been created by a report from Tokyo to the effect that Japan will refuse to agree to the resolution empowering the mixed Commission to fix a date for the withdrawal. On its receipt Mr. Hymans arranged to confer with Mr. Nagao and Mr. Yen this morning.

The draft resolution empowers the Commission at the request of one of the parties to pronounce when the time has arrived, when a complete withdrawal can be reasonably effected, hoping that any decision will be unanimous, but failing unanimity, any decision taken by the majority will be valid. The Chairman will have a casting vote. It urges the parties to the dispute to resume negotiations, and animated by the determination for a rapid conclusion, begs the specially interested Powers to continue their assistance.

It concludes by saying that in the event of failure on agreement, the whole question may be brought for the consideration of the full assembly.—Reuter.

Reducing Taxes.

Shanghai, Apr. 20. The Municipal Council of the Settlement is giving serious consideration to the question of the partial remission of taxation on Chinese ratepayers in the eastern and northern districts of the Settlement who have been directly affected by the recent trouble. Proposals to this effect were placed before the new Council members at the meeting to-night and an official announcement will be forthcoming as soon as details have been worked out and decided upon.—Reuter.

High Praise to Sir Miles Lampson

Shanghai, Apr. 20. The China Times this afternoon, in deprecating what it terms "reckless charges against special district courts" by Gen. MacNaughten, former Chairman of the S.M.C., at the annual meeting of the Settlement ratepayers, pays a warm tribute to Sir Miles Lampson, who, it says, has been tirelessly striving for a successful issue of the Shanghai Armistice negotiations.

After referring to the improved relations between China and the Powers the paper says: "What particularly impressed China is the fact that since the appointment of Sir Miles Lampson there have been repeated concrete proofs of British friendship and goodwill to China which have produced the happy result of reviving all the misunderstandings caused by the May-30 incident in 1925, and the relations between the Nationals of China and Britain have now attained a degree of friendship and goodwill unprecedented in their relations."—Reuter Special.

A CAUTIOUS BUDGET

Of all the adjectives which have been used by the London Press in describing Mr. Neville Chamberlain's Budget, "cautious" is probably the one which most truthfully reflects the spirit in which the nation's financial problems have been faced. Indeed, it will not be at all surprising if, by this time next year, it is found that the Chancellor of the Exchequer has been unduly conservative in his estimates of income. There are, happily, prospects of improving trade and more employment, and, if these are realised, the financial situation should be correspondingly bettered. Mr. Chamberlain, however, is apparently content to err, if at all, on the right side. Millionaires do not seem to be in a hurry to die, with the result that last year the death duty receipts did not come up to anticipations. Whether the Treasury is banking on some of last year's "expectations" dying more in accordance with schedule in the coming twelve months, and is framing its estimates accordingly, has not been disclosed!

Speaking generally, it must be conceded that Mr. Chamberlain's Budget is featureless when contrasted with the emergency proposals put forward last September by Lord Snowden. The situation then, with a prospective deficit of £74,000,000, called for drastic remedies, and these were certainly applied to good effect. Indeed, the Snowden plan, which completely changed the outlook, yielded nine millions more than was expected. This naturally simplified Mr. Chamberlain's task. Boiled down, the new Budget suggests the likelihood of a deficit of £1,700,000, on the basis of existing taxation, but even on the moderate estimates put forward, there is a prospect of a surplus of £700,000 when the proposed new taxes come into operation. The position is satisfactory, but in view of the heavy burden of taxation under which the people of the Old Country are still struggling, it might reasonably have been hoped that some relief would have been afforded. Instead of that, it looks distinctly probable that living costs may go up as a consequence of the ten-tax proposals. It may be sound finance, in face of continued uncertainties, to consolidate the financial position and ask the people to be patient a little longer, but there is such a thing as straining the patience of the taxpayer, who, on Mr. Chamberlain's own admission, has saved the situation by his sense of duty and citizenship. It is admittedly something to be proud of that, at a time when other nations are finding it impossible to balance their budgets, Britain should have so well managed her financial problems as to come out on the right side. But the question does arise whether Mr. Cham-

CORRESPONDENCE.

Hongkong Women.

[To the Editor, Hongkong Telegraph.]

Sir.—In reply to "Homo's" letter in your issue of the 18th instant, as I am sure that his pre-judge against Hongkong women is due to the fact that he has been snubbed by them, I would ask him to take his defeat like a good sportsman, and give honour to whom honour is due:

(1) The crowning glory of man is his health, strength and mental energy.

(2) The crowning glory of woman is her beauty, modesty and purity.

(3) Give a man happiness, contentment and peace of heart, mind and soul, which comes from God, and he becomes a man without malice, envy or fear.—Yours, etc., J. P. V. REMEDIOS.

Mr. R. Paul will speak on "The Lost Continent" at the usual weekly public lecture of the Hongkong Lodge, Theosophical Society, 17, Queen's Road Central, to-day at 6 p.m.

The nominations for a vacancy occurring in the Sanitary Board closed at noon yesterday, the only two names submitted being those of Mr. F. C. Moew Fung, J. P., and Dr. Li Shun-fan.

The Royal Observatory reports that the depression has passed into the Pacific to the east of Hokkaido and the anticyclone is central to the south of Korea. Local forecast:—East winds, moderate; cloudy, fog; mist or occasional rain.

Trade Wars.

At the present moment when there is still much talk of persuading the Powers to declare a boycott upon Japan, it might be enquired whether anybody has any adequate notion of how such a boycott should be organised and enforced. Very considerable as is the trade between Britain and Japan, at its largest it engages the attention of comparatively few British business houses. In 1930 Britain bought from Japan £8,064,000. Exports to the same country were £8,229,000. Imports are almost wholly of silk; exports largely of machinery and manufactured goods. Should Britain, either independently or in connexion with the League, declare a boycott, it would mean imposition of heavy loss, probably of bankruptcy, upon a group of importers and manufacturers. What would be the attitude then towards this limited class upon whom would fall the entire cost of disciplining Japan? Would its loss be made good from the treasury? When a nation goes to war its young men within certain age limits become universally subject to conscription. They endure on the battlefield incredible sufferings, and even sacrifice of their lives. Long acclimatisation in this form of barbarism has elevated it to something like a religion, and youth is expected to be satisfied by being told that it is sweet and glorious to die for one's country. There are signs of revolt against this theory. But up to the present time, it has not been permissible under the law to seize the property of individuals for warlike purposes without due compensation. Those of us who have urged that there is no sacredness to property which does not accrue even in higher degree to human life, and that therefore capital, wealth, should be as subject to conscription as man power, have been told that under the Constitution this is impossible. It may be true. But if it is impossible would it be possible to put the entire burden of disciplining a refractory and aggressive nation, Japan or any other, upon the limited group of business men having trade relations with that country? We do not know that this matter has ever been adjudicated. We doubt indeed whether it has ever been given serious consideration by the authorities. To-day there is certainly enough discussion of a boycott to justify some sort of official declaration as to how and at whose expense this trade war, only relatively less costly than war of the usual sort, could be waged.

CORRESPONDENCE.

Hongkong Women.

[To the Editor, Hongkong Telegraph.]

Sir.—In reply to "Homo's" letter in your issue of the 18th instant, as I am sure that his pre-judge against Hongkong women is due to the fact that he has been snubbed by them, I would ask him to take his defeat like a good sportsman, and give honour to whom honour is due:

(1) The crowning glory of man is his health, strength and mental energy.

(2) The crowning glory of woman is her beauty, modesty and purity.

(3) Give a man happiness, contentment and peace of heart, mind and soul, which comes from God, and he becomes a man without malice, envy or fear.—Yours, etc., J. P. V. REMEDIOS.

THE AIR-WIDOWER

By GERARD FAIRLIE

which will fly faster and faster. They have not been devoting their minds to the far more important point of reducing the speed at which an aeroplane will fly and thus enabling a machine to land very much more slowly and consequently very much more safely. In other words, aeroplane designers have been all out to capture the market which undoubtedly exists for speed and more speed, to capture the imagination of the man who has a large amount of money to spend, and will spend it on buying a fast racing motor car.

I confess that this attitude is beyond me. I cannot understand why, since an aeroplane designer has to live like anybody else, he should deliberately eschew the big market for the small one. There are far more people who will buy cars in which they are more comfortable and will get about at a reasonable speed than there are people who will buy second-hands from Brooklands; and so it must be with flying, if all the world is air-minded.

Commercial aeroplanes, of course, require speed, but there is plenty of room for the designer of the safe aeroplane as well, and with very few exceptions (notably the introduction of slotted wings and of the autogiro) there has been no invention towards the road of safety; all designers seem to have gone by the side-road leading to speed and still greater speed.

To an extent, of course, this is understandable. Wright in 1908 and Bleriot also, and a little later Dunne and the brothers Henry and Maurice Farman, produced machines to fly—and all good health to them. Then came that disturbance known as the Great War, and with its peculiar needs, one of the most important being the necessity of speed which gave predominance to any Air Force. But the war ended in 1918, and since then with designers it has still been purely a question of increasing the speed and not aiming at lowering it and making flying more safe.

The excuse of the war does not seem to me still to exist after over thirteen years, particularly as commercial designers seem to be making it more difficult for themselves to acquire vast profits, by suggesting inconsistently by the machines they produce that the demand for private aeroplanes is limited to the big sports car owner.

My second objection—the lack of visibility in the modern aeroplane—is a most important one to me. I get into an aeroplane; I rise into the air and I see, absolutely nothing except struts and planes and bits of engine. Occasionally I catch a glimpse of the horizon, and it is usually at such an angle that I wish I hadn't seen it. I am told that it is not long before a pilot recovers from this feeling and is able to see comparatively well, but the range of vision is definitely limited to a degree which does not seem to me to be compatible with safety.

Collisions in the air are by no means unknown, and many of these could have been avoided had a clear vision been allowed the pilot by the designer. In this the modern aeroplane has gone back definitely from those produced at the beginning of the war by the brothers Farman.

And then there is this question of noise. Silencers are too heavy and therefore they cannot be used. I am prepared to admit that this is the least of my troubles when in the air, and that perhaps it cannot yet be overcome. But some day it will be possible, and I have noticed that the trend of modern aeroplane engine construction is any way towards silence.

No—I am a severe critic of those in whose hands the evolution of aircraft depends. If I saw that they were trying to do some of the things which I have suggested I might conceivably go up once a year just to encourage them, but at the moment I prefer, because of my personal safety and my personal comfort, to remain on the ground.

FALL OF AMOY IMMINENT*CHANG CHEN IN RETREAT

The fall of Amoy to General Sun Lien-chung is expected hourly. General Chang Chen's army is retreating in disorder before the "rebel" army.

H.M.S. Devonshire, which is standing by in Amoy, sent the following message to the local naval authorities this morning:

General Chang Chen's army has split up into two main portions. One portion is retiring southwards in the direction of Changpu, with General Chang Chen, and other in retreating northwards in the direction of Tungan.

A certain number of civilian refugees are landing on Kulangsu and small bodies of armed troops presumed to be those of General Chang's army, are landing in junks and motor boats in the vicinity of Shihuan. They are being evacuated seaward in steam launches, presumably under the direction of Admiral Li, whose gunboats are at present patrolling the waters at Amoy and Kulangsu.

Boat traffic is prohibited by the Chinese naval authorities between 2 a.m. and daylight. The local situation is quiet.

QUID PRO QUO SUGGESTED*MORNING POST AND TEA DUTY

London, Apr. 21. With the re-imposition of the duty on tea no man of sense will quarrel, declares the Morning Post in a leading article, pointing out that the recent influx of Dutch Colonial teas has resulted in disorganisation, involving the British Empire industry in severe losses.

Expressing the hope that the mischief will now be undone, the Morning Post comments that it would be hardly fair that a Colony like Ceylon, whose tea is to enjoy a valuable preference in the British market, should not give a corresponding advantage to British trade in Ceylon.—Reuter.

THE DANUBIAN CRISIS*RESULT OF MEETING AT INNSBRUCK

Innsbruck, Apr. 20. The conference convened by the International Chamber of Commerce to discuss assistance to the Danubian States has concluded its deliberations.

A resolution was adopted appealing to all countries to do their utmost to create conditions to help in the removal of the world crisis and restore mutual confidence.

The Conference felt that a Danubian Antarchy must not be considered, but close and permanent co-operation of the States with third parties is necessary.—Reuter.

BRITISH CLAIMS ON SOVIET*CASH AND PROPERTY SEIZURES

London, Apr. 20. Questioned as to the total amount of claims of British nationals against the Soviet Government, in respect of cash and property in Russia appropriated without compensation, the Parliamentary Secretary to the Board of Trade said that insofar as the amounts were indicated by the claimants, the total claims recorded in the Russian Claims Department amounted to upwards of 260 million roubles.

There were also various amounts expressed in other currencies.—British Wireless.

LADY'S HANDBAG STOLEN*LAD FOUND GUILTY AT KOWLOON

Giving his age as 14, but looking older, Lau Kam-yuen, a rattan worker, was charged before Mr. Fraser at the Kowloon Magistrate this morning with the theft of a handbag, the property of Mrs. E. Kutz, a passenger on the Empress of Russia lying along-side Kowloon Wharf.

Prosecuting, Detective Inspector Elston and Sultan Mohammed, an Automobile Association scout, was standing at the car-park in Salisbury Road yesterday morning when he saw the defendant holding a ladies' handbag and stuffing money into his pocket. His suspicious were aroused and he questioned the defendant, who thereupon ran away, but was chased, caught and taken the Water Police Station. The contents and the bag were worth $400 (Hongkong currency).

Defendant denied the charge, saying that he was given the bag by a coolie, who told him to wait for him in Salisbury Road.

After hearing the evidence, his Worship convicted the defendant. Inspector Elston said that from inquiries made by the police, it appeared that defendant's parents were dead. He had been sent from the country to Hongkong by his grandfather, who intended him to be a rattan work, and with this end in view, put him in a rattan shop in Canton Road. He was dismissed about six weeks ago for being lazy.

His Worship decided to send the defendant to the S.C.A. for further enquiries and postponed sentence until Saturday.

TROPICAL DISEASE EXPERT*SHARES MUSSOLINI PRIZE

Rome, Apr. 20. Sir Aldo Castellani, the well-known authority on tropical diseases, is among four recipients of the Mussolini Prize of 50,000 lire for special distinction last year.

Director of Tropical Medicine and Dermatology at the Ross Institute and Hospital, Sir Aldo is chiefly known for his discovery of the etiological effects of sleeping sickness and yaws, for the elucidation of the etiology of several other diseases, and for description of new tropical diseases and their causes. He was born in Florence in 1875.—Reuter.

PARKED CARS MAY BE LOCKED*BRITISH BAN BEING REMOVED

London, Apr. 20. The Transport Minister announced in the House of Commons the removal, as an experiment, of the restriction on locking motor cars in parking-places.

Hitherto locking has been forbidden so that the police could if necessary move stationary cars. It is hoped that the amendment of the regulations may curb the activities of car thieves.—British Wireless.

Although silver is up in London, the local dollar remains unchanged at 1s. 2½d. The market here is steady.

London reported a rise of 3/16ths, spot and forward. China bought, and after the official fixing the market ruled quiet but steady.

New York silver prices remain unchanged, with the market dull.

MINERS' HOURS PROBLEM*NEGOTIATIONS AGAIN URGED

London, Apr. 20. The President of the Board of Trade, Mr. Walter Runciman, in an interview with representatives of the Miners' Federation, urged the resumption of negotiations with owners on the hours question, which is governed by the Act expiring on 8th July.

Later, Mr. Runciman met the Mining Association, which is the owners' organisation.—British Wireless.

MEN & WOMEN IN ARGUMENT*SPARKLING Y.M.C.A. DEBATE*LADIES' TRIUMPH

A magnificent closing speech by Miss Curtin proved the deciding factor in the vote at the Y.M.C.A. debate last night, and following the brightest and most entertaining discussion of the season, the lady speakers won the day and secured the acceptance of the motion "That the Professions have been improved through their adoption by woman," by 53 votes to 34.

From the opening address of the proposer, the debate attained a high standard of whimsical, witty and trenchant argument, and the wordy duel between the men and women provided one of the most entertaining evenings of the winter programme of the Y.M.C.A.

Miss K. P. Curtin, who proposed the motion, pointed out that through the ages woman had lent to many professions her powers of stimulation, inspiration, sympathy, tact, intuitive discernment, and passionate determination, unacknowledged of men save by the rare few. In support of this Miss Curtin mentioned Cleopatra, who made such successful excursions into the realm of politics, the Queen of Sheba, Queen Elizabeth and Queen Victoria. In the realm of art they had Salome in ancient times and Pavlova in modern times as examples of women who had contributed much to the dance, while in literature there was Sappho in ancient Greece, Jane Austin, the Brontes, Alice Meynell and many others in modern England. In dramatic art there was Mrs. Siddons, Dame Ellen Terry and Dame Sybil Thorndike, although it had to be recognised that woman's creative work in the Arts was only just beginning, and it would have to be left to future ages to decide the full extent of her powers in this field.

WOMAN'S SPECIAL QUALITIES

The speaker went on to refer to the obvious value of women in the nursing, medical and teaching professions, and said that in the legal profession woman brought special qualities, particularly that subtlety so essential to the legal mind. Shakespeare had himself immortalised her powers in this direction in his characterisation of Portia.

Finally Miss Curtin attributed the following qualities to woman, showing how, through them, she was improving the professions: Moral and physical courage, fortitude, incredible endurance of pain and hardships, determination, reliability and devotion to duty.

Mr. A. E. Jeffries, who led the opposition, was in a humorous mood, and gave the audience the benefit of some of his wittiest observations and epigrams. He quickly got down to his points. "Are there among you any who, having to undergo a serious operation, would go on the table content in the knowledge that the knife was being held by a woman?" he asked. In navigation and engineering, women had only encroached, as they had in the other professions, but had added nothing to them. The teaching profession had been the fashion for women for many years, yet he would bring before them the plainest case of a woman to whose lot it fell the task of fitting the speaker (Mr. Jeffries) to meeting the world! In the kindergarten, women teachers were necessary, but to say that the teaching profession as a whole had been improved by women, well—

Women Must Bleat!

Mr. Jeffries later gave a few reasons why women could never improve the professions. She lacked decision, he said. A woman could make up her eyes, her hair, her lips, her cheeks, but never her mind! Woman lacked solidity, being a shave to fashion in all phases of life.

Woman was so logically constituted, physically, that she could not expect to be as mentally as well. Remind a woman of the scientific fact that her brain-weight was less than a man's and you would incur her wrath, but point out to her that her feet were smaller than yours, and she became your friend for life. Woman's greatest strength was her weakness. Let them rest content that always it would be that men must work and woman must bleat!

Miss H. M. Knill seconded the motion. She argued that the fact that women were being better educated and were now able to take their place in the professional work of to-day, participating in the intellectual, moral and physical interests of the nations, but with the feminine attitude of mind towards the problems that arise in the professions, had of necessity broadened the field of scope

WUCHOW NOTES*ANOTHER BRITISH PLANE

Wuchow, Apr. 19.

A large grey biplane arrived in Wuchow from the east yesterday morning, and several hours later left the air field for Nanning. The plane is alleged to be another one of the shipment of fourteen large planes which a British aero-plane concern is supplying the Kwangsi Provincial Government.

The workmen installing Wuchow's waterworks system are at present erecting wooden forms and adjusting reinforcement iron preparatory to pouring concrete, which is to be used in constructing the reservoir which will later supply the city with water. The site selected for the storage system is on a high knoll overlooking the city on the east side. All of the water mains have already been laid in the streets, and the majority of the piping, which connects the houses to the mains, also has been completed.

Work on the new Wuchow Post Office building continues to make progress, although the recent period of inclement weather was not conducive to building operations.

Mr. David M. Maynard, Assistant American Trade Commissioner, who has his headquarters in Hongkong, was a recent visitor to the foreign community of Wuchow. Mr. Maynard made the trip up the West River in the interests of the department which he represents.

The student enrolment of the Kwangsi University has been greatly increased, and at present there are over 600 students attending classes. All except a score of these students are from Kwangsi Province. The grounds of the University have been wonderfully improved under the able direction of Mr. Hsiung, professor of agriculture of the University, who has introduced an extensive plan of landscape gardening, which adds beauty to the natural setting of the University. Thousands of trees and shrubs, as well as smaller varieties of plants and flowers have been planted during this year.

Last week one of the local moving picture theatres showed pictures of the recent Shanghai "war." Capacity audiences crowded in to witness the latest news from the Sino-Japanese front.—Our Own Correspondent.

ANGLO-SOVIET TRADE*LORD SNOWDEN NOT PLEASED

London, Apr. 20.

Lord Snowden, replying to a debate raised by Lord Lloyd in the House of Lords on the Government's trade policy with the Russian Government, said he was not satisfied with the disparity between imports and exports of Russian trade. He had made representations to the Soviet Government and had insisted that as far as it could, steps should be taken to lessen it.

An advisory committee should be given powers to deal with further guarantees for credits for trade with Russia for more than 12 months, without attaching more stringent conditions than in the past.

Negotiations regarding the extent of the credits to be given were in progress, and the policy of guarantee would only be continued if it assisted British industries.—British Wireless.

for the professional man. She had opened up new channels of interest and research, exactly doubling his sources of information and enabling him to do more adequate work for his clients by revealing to him another and very different point of view.

Supernition and Quackery.

Mr. D. J. S. Crozier supported the opposition, and after dealing with the various arguments of the ladies, concluded by saying that the entry of woman into the professions was not for their improvement, rather it was going to reintroduce the quackery, the superstition, the jealousy and the illogical, which mere man had done so much to eradicate. He concluded with the following paradox:—"At this debate to-night, with so many ladies present, the greatest argument in favour of the motion would be its defeat!"

After a number of comments had been made from the audience, Mr. Jeffries and Miss Curtin replied, both making extraordinarily fine speeches, and the vote was then taken.

The chair was taken by Mr. P. S. Cassidy, who announced that the function was the last debate of the season to be organised by the Literary and Debating Society.

CHINA REALTY COMPANY 8% DEBENTURES
8% INTEREST VS 6% INTEREST
MEANS ONE THIRD MORE INCOME

EXAMINE YOUR INVESTMENT DOLLARS CAREFULLY

Now, more than ever before, it is important that you safeguard your investments as carefully as possible to make sure of their security and the greatest possible return.

We are in a position to help you do this—we have behind us a record of more than twenty years of useful and profitable service to investors.

While our business operations are confined to Shanghai itself, there are many Hongkong investors who appreciate the liberal return and safe investment provided by our 8% debentures. Because we believe that others will welcome the opportunity to share in this investment opportunity, we propose in a series of advertisements which will appear in the Hongkong Telegraph, to give complete information as to our policy and operations.

This Statement of Policy is of Interest to Every Real Estate Investor in the Far East!

In the conduct of our business, we pursue a well formulated and consistent policy which makes our company distinctive and sets it apart from most other concerns having to do with the real estate business.

The basic principle of the policy lies in the fact that we are realtors, or real estate agents. As such we act as the medium for bringing together buyers and sellers, receiving our compensation from the commissions received on sales which are made. We only purchase land for resale in the case of a forced sale or sale made under circumstances where it is possible to make a purchase for quick resale at a satisfactory profit. In making these purchases for our own account, we have always been guided and actuated by two principles. The first is that as we are, in none of our activities, in competition with our clients, and we do not purchase for our own a property desired by a customer. The second is that, as we are not speculators in real estate, we do not make purchases in anticipation of profits which might come from increased values of the future, except when from advance information of improvements, and/or, strategic locations with no prospective buyers, and then we purchase with the basic idea of a quick turnover with reasonable profits to the company, allowing clients to make money.

This policy is based on sound business reasons. We are dealers in, not purchasers of, real estate and as dealers it is our first duty to serve our clients. If instead of handing on to our clients the choice purchases which are available, we took them for ourselves, we would be betraying their confidence and would lose the position of trust we hold to-day and cease to be the real estate market place of Shanghai. When a prospective purchaser of real estate comes to us, he may rest assured that our honest duty to help him make the best investment possible is not obscured by any desire on our part to build up real estate holdings for ourselves.

The value of real estate sales we have negotiated, the increasing number of investors who come to us unsolicited as the natural and logical place to come when wishing to invest in real estate shows that a very large portion of the investing public is familiar with our policy and appreciates how its consistent application safeguards their interests.

MANAGEMENT OF ESTATES.

It is for a similar reason that we are handling a growing amount of business as the managers of estates, taking care of the leasing of houses, apartments, godowns, etc., collecting the rents and taking care of the other details which go with the management of property. Here again we have no motive but to serve the best interest of our clients. We can manage these properties as if they were our own because we have no competing interests. We have no rental properties of our own; no residences, apartments, tenements or godowns.

The property owners whose estates we manage know that of the many who come to real estate headquarters as prospective tenants none will be diverted from the premises owned by them because of a desire to gain revenue from property owned by ourselves. In the rental as in the purchase of property, we are not in competition with our clients.

The growing amount of business we do in the arrangement of real estate transactions as well as the management of estates quite naturally has made this company the headquarters for the negotiation of mortgages. Very few purchases of real estate are made without a mortgage for a part of the purchase price and as the administrators of so many estates it is natural that the landlords should come to us when they need financial assistance for the purchase or development of properties.

CUTI and mail now

Secretary, China Realty Company, 70, Szechuen Road, Shanghai.
Dear Sir,
Please send me without obligation on my part a copy of your last balance sheet and other information regarding your 8% debenture issue.
Name .....	.....
Address .....

For further information.

NOT ONE CENT OF LOSS:
In the negotiation of mortgages as in the purchase of real estate and the administration of estates we are not in competition with investors who come to us to secure good investments. Of over $100,000,000 of mortgages which we have placed, a very large part has been with the funds of others who have received the full interest paid on the loan, our compensation coming from the commissions and the turnover of capital. On the other hand, for a difference in interest which yet allows normally 8% to investors, we are prepared to stand behind every mortgage we negotiate, guaranteeing the repayment of both principal and interest. As a matter of fact, every cent of principal and interest due on mortgages we negotiated has been repaid.

Our very successful mortgage department rounds out and completes our service to investors in Shanghai real estate. We provide the means to purchase property, to administer it and to help finance it.

OUR INVESTORS.

Another phase of our activities has to do with the investing public, that is the holder of our 8% debentures on which the interest is payable semi-annually. We believe that those who furnish the capital on which the company is enabled to do increased business should participate in the profits—that the most successful concern of the future will be those who recognize this principle—that even banks will allocate to depositors a part of profits earned on their money over and above current rates of interests. As our balance sheets show quite plainly the proceeds from the sale of our debentures is not used for the purchase of real estate, as we are not speculators, but for investment in first class mortgages, amply secured not only by the value of the land pledged as security but as a further security the fact that the debentures constitute a first claim on the total assets of the company. An analysis of the figures involved shows that every debenture has behind it assets equal to three times its value.

Were it not for the position of confidence gained through the consistent policy to which we have adhered, and the volume of unsolicited business which has come as a result, we could not thus complete our service by offering the man who wishes to invest in debentures an opportunity to share with us in the prosperity of our business by paying debenture interest of 8%.

S.W.B. CHAMPIONS

FINAL MATCH OF THIRD DIVISION FOOTBALL

The South Wales Borderers are champions of the third division of the Hongkong Football League, for although they drew with the Royal A.F. Force in the last match of the season yesterday, it did not alter their position on the top of the list.

The game was scheduled to start at 4.30 p.m., but at 5.15 the official appointed to referee had not arrived, so the captains agreed that Mr. J. Gomes should officiate.

The game ended in a one-all draw and the result placed the Borderers and R.A.F. in the respective positions of winners and runners-up. It was a curious coincidence that the last game of the season should be drawn, as it was the first drawn game in the division.

P.W.D. v Sanitary Dept.

The Hon. Mr. H. T. Creasy and Mr. G. R. Sayer were interested spectators at the match played yesterday on the Hongkong F.C. ground between teams chosen from the Public Works Department and the Sanitary Department, the result being a draw for the P.W.D. by the odd goal in three. There was a large attendance, each department being well represented and each movement was closely watched by their respective supporters.

The Sanitary Department pressed from the kick-off, and early in the game took the lead through Tavelin. The P.W.D. fought back gamely and scored through Moore. The teams were level at the interval. The P.W.D. had the better of the exchanges in the second half, Moore again netting to win the match.

The game resulted:—P.W.D., 2; Sanitary Dept., 1.

At the close of the game the teams were drawn up before the stand. The Hon. Mr. Creasy presented a "Cup" to the winners and a "Shield" to the losers.

MACAO RACE MEETING.

FIXED FOR MAY 8 AT THE MACAO COURSE

Following a meeting of the Stewards of the Macao Jockey Club on Tuesday, it was decided that the Second Extra Race Meeting of the Macao Club which was twice postponed, first on account of the meningitis epidemic in the Portuguese Colony, and for the second time last Sunday because of inclement weather resulting in the Fanling course being flooded, will be held on Sunday May 8 in Macao.

All handicaps for the seven events of the meeting, which have already been published, will hold good, and ponies winning races subsequent to April 17 will be eligible to race at the meeting.

DIVORCE ACTIONS IN LONDON.

DECREES FOR SHANGHAI WOMEN

A decree nisi for divorce was granted to Mrs. Klasta Dunscombe, now living at Windsor, but formerly in Shanghai, by Mr. Justice Bateson in the London Divorce Court on Monday March 21, on the ground of the alleged adultery of her husband, Dr. William K. Dunscombe, pathologist to the Municipal Council of Shanghai, with a woman at the Savoy Hotel, Broadway, Shanghai, on dates in December 1930, and January 1931. There was no defense to the case.

The marriage of Dr. Dunscombe and Mrs. Dunscombe took place in January 1929, while Dr. Dunscombe was in the Government Hospital, Hongkong, with a diseased hip. The couple afterwards lived at Repulse Bay, and Queen's Gardens, Hongkong, until the doctor obtained the post of pathologist to the Shanghai Municipal Council. Just before he left for Shanghai the wife alleged that she noticed a change in his manner towards her. He seemed preoccupied and interested in nothing but his work. Mrs. Dunscombe, after a visit to England, went to Shanghai in October, 1930. She became suspicious of her husband and gave instructions to enquiry agents and as a result of the enquiries made she told her husband that she would not live with him any longer.

She went to Japan but later returned to Shanghai. She did not go to live with her husband who had gone to reside at his club. Those who saw her picture, "O Woman of Affairs," will also recall that Miss Garbo appeared in Hollywood's first pair of lounging pyjamas in this production.

And now, when Miss Garbo's new picture is shown on the screen the feminine audience will be treated to a lavish display of dresses and suits and wraps—also pyjamas and negligees—each of original and different stylings.

One will recognize the decidedly different silhouette of her evening dresses. Whereas they are now fully flared from knees to floor, Miss Garbo's evening gowns graduate from the slender hip line to the ankles in Grecian effect with hidden pleats arranged to give comfort in walking.

Also her pyjamas vary from the present styles in that they show narrow trouser cuffs in place of the extremely wide patterns now shown.

A Second Case.

Mr. Justice Bateson, in the same court on Monday, March 21, heard the undefended petition for divorce of Mrs. Mary Agnes King, now giving her address as Amherst, Sussex, England, but formerly of Shanghai, who alleged that her husband, Arthur Cecil King, a manufacturers' agent, had committed adultery in Shanghai in September, 1929.

The marriage of Mr. and Mrs. King took place at the Consulate General in Shanghai in October, 1925, and they afterwards went through a religious ceremony at Holy Trinity Cathedral, Shanghai. After a honeymoon in England, the couple returned to Shanghai. At first, the marriage was happy, but then the wife alleged that the husband started to stay out late at night and neglected her. By the year 1928, Mr. and Mrs. King were occupying separate bedrooms and a deed of separation was entered into in May, 1929. Later the wife heard rumours about Mr. King and subsequently obtained information upon which she now petitioned for a divorce.

Miss La Roy served her apprenticeship in a stock company at Portland, Oregon; Seattle, Washington, and Vancouver, B.C., had a try at vaudeville on the Orpheum circuit and played roles in several travelling companies before she turned to pictures in 1929, first appearing in "Dynamite." Since then she has played prominent character roles in "Sin Takes A Holiday," "Traveling Husband," and "Midnight Mystery."

George O'Brien, athletic and handsome leading man portrays the featured role and divides the love interest with Sally Eilers in "A Holy Terror." Other notables in the cast are Humphrey Bogart, James Cagney, Stanley Fields, Robert Warick, Richard Tucker and Earl Piegar. The picture was directed by Irving Cummings.

Brilliant Drama.

Remarkably played by one of the finest casts ever seen on the talking screen and produced in notable fashion, John Galsworthy's immortal drama "Escape" will be given its first showing at the Queen's Theatre today. It is undeniably one of the most brilliant and thrilling film productions of the year.

"Escape" has proved a most powerful play in its numerous presentations on the legitimate stage, but the screen, providing a wider scope and allowing a great range of pictorial treatment, is by far the better medium for the Galsworthy masterpiece.

Free liberties were taken in the adaptation of the play. The action has been unchanged and additional dialogue kept admirably in the spirit of the original. "Escape" is one play which has proved ideal for direct screen treatment.

Capt. Matt Denant, world war hero and London clubman, is the central figure of the story. Defending himself against a boorish officer of law, Matt strikes the policeman. The officer hits a railing in railing and is sent to a Dartmoor prison.

He is convicted of manslaughter and is sent to Dartmoor prison. Matt is successful in his long-planned escape. His flight through the English countryside and the chase by police introduces a score of thrilling and dramatic events, winding up in one of the most powerful climaxes ever shown on the screen.

Sir Gerald du Maurier, well known as one of the greatest of legitimate stage stars, plays the lead and makes it an outstanding characterization. Brilliant portrayals are contributed by the entire cast, with Edna Best

CINEMA SCREENINGS.

NOTES SUPPLIED BY THE THEATRES.

Naturally, you like an old-fashioned rip-snorting melodrama, filled with fast and exciting action. Everybody does. Do not fail to see "Graft."

You are going to be thoroughly interested in a young man, who in the line of duty, accuses a beautiful girl of murder and then works like Sam Hill to clear her so he can marry her. Particularly when this young man is Regis Tommey.

The story is told against the background of a newspaper editorial room, on the eve of an important election, and lays bare the tricks and devices of crooked politicians.

The fine cast includes beside Regis Tommey, beautiful Sue Carol, Dorothy Revier, Boris Karloff, Richard Tucker, Carmelita Geraghty and many others. You will enjoy every minute of "Graft," which is showing at the Central Theatre to-day.

Susan Lenox."

"There's only one in a hundred who dares to wear a fashion that is new and original," quotes Adrian, designer of the costumes. Greta Garbo wears in her latest Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer picture, "Susan Lenox, Her Fall and Rise," which will be shown at the Queen's on Sunday.

"Too conservative, too modest is the typing the majority of women come under," continues Adrian, who is enthusiastic over the twenty-two creative costumes he has completed for Miss Garbo.

"Therefore it is such a pleasure to find someone of Miss Garbo's temperament—one who appreciates 'that something new!'"

One remembers that when the whole world was going about with a cropped hair bob Miss Garbo appeared with a shoulder-length hair style. Those who saw her picture, "O Woman of Affairs," will also recall that Miss Garbo appeared in Hollywood's first pair of lounging pyjamas in this production.

And now, when Miss Garbo's new picture is shown on the screen the feminine audience will be treated to a lavish display of dresses and suits and wraps—also pyjamas and negligees—each of original and different stylings.

Also her pyjamas vary from the present styles in that they show narrow trouser cuffs in place of the extremely wide patterns now shown.

"A Holy Terror."

Notwithstanding that she is a direct descendant of Mary, Queen of Scots, and that her father was a member of the Royal family of England, Rita La Roy, beautiful screen actress, is one of the most democratic young women of the film colony. She appears in "A Holy Terror," Fox picture now showing at the King's Theatre.

After financial reverses overtaking her father, Miss La Roy found it necessary to find employment. She designed clothes, did interior decorations and is frank enough to confess that she even waits on table when times are hard. "And I could do it again if it became necessary," she declared recently.

Miss La Roy served her apprenticeship in a stock company at Portland, Oregon; Seattle, Washington, and Vancouver, B.C., had a try at vaudeville on the Orpheum circuit and played roles in several travelling companies before she turned to pictures in 1929, first appearing in "Dynamite."

Miss Dresser will be recalled for her talking roles in "Lightning," "Caught" and other recent productions. Miss Gobell scored successes in "Bad Girl" and "Sister Sister" before she was assigned to her role

BAG FOUND BEFORE LADY REPORTS LOSS

A Chinese youth who is alleged to have stolen a handbag containing bank notes worth $400 Mex., from the Empress of Russia was arrested yesterday before the owner of the bag was aware of her loss, owing to the smart work of an Indian Inspector of the Automobile Association.

Mr. James F. Kutz, a passenger on the Empress, which arrived about 10 a.m. yesterday told the police that she lay down to rest in her cabin at 10.30 a.m. prior to going ashore. She placed her handbag containing the money on a vacant bed in her cabin. She then fell asleep and on waking later discovered that her handbag was missing. She telephoned to the Water Police Station only to be informed that a Chinese had already been arrested with a bag and notes in his possession. She went to the Police Station and identified the bag and notes as her property.

The Indian Inspector said he was at the car park at Kowloon Point, about 11 a.m. when he noticed a poorly dressed Chinese youth walking past the European Y. M. C. A. carrying a European style handbag. He questioned the Chinese and took him to the Water Police Station.

The First Gas Attack.

[To the Editor, Hongkong Telegraph.]

Sir,—I do not know on what authority Mr. Dovey stated in his interesting "Chemistry" speech that when poison gas was first used in France 80,000 respirators were made and shipped within 27 hours of the sample being obtained. The gas was first used on April 22, 1915, and it was almost at once reported to be chlorine. By the evening of the 24th, a limited number of respirators made by Belgian civilians were sent up to the trenches; but for many days most of the troops facing the gas cylinders were without any means of protection and it was not until May that the respirators from England were issued to them.

This is not intended in any way as a disparagement of the British chemists. But it so happens that next Friday, the seventeenth anniversary of this gas attack, a short account of the battle will be given on the wireless; and listeners will have difficulty in reconciling the above statement with what actually occurred. If it is correct, either the experts took an inordinately long time to confirm that the gas was chlorine, or else the Army authorities were criminally negligent in delaying the issue of the respirators. Even when the latter arrived they consisted of mere strips of cloth which, in the absence of chemicals, were recommended to be treated with any liquid available in the trenches.

BRINGS ARGYLLS BACK FROM SHANGHAI

H.M.S. Kent, which had aboard the 2nd Battalion of the Argyll and Sutherland Highlanders, arrived at Hongkong from Shanghai at 11 a.m. yesterday and moored at No. 6 buoy. The work of disembarking the Argylls was commenced at 2 p.m., they being transferred to the shore by launches.

The Argylls left Hongkong early in February at the commencement of the Shanghai trouble, and were stationed at Shanghai throughout the disturbance, taking part in the defence of the International Settlement.

H.M.S. Kent will go into the naval dock at the end of the week to be refitted. It is not known yet whether she will participate in the annual cruise of the Southern China squadron, which commenced on Tuesday, when H.M.S. Medway departed from Hongkong.

NO MORE RIOTS

NEWFOUNDLAND SESSIONS RE-OPEN QUIETLY

St. John's, Apr. 20. The Newfoundland legislature re-opened to-day after its adjournment since the riot on April 5, without any demonstration, despite the crowd of 2,000 outside Parliament House. Proceedings in the House of Assembly were quiet.

The Prime Minister, Sir Richard Squires announced that the general election would be held at the end of May or early in June, following the passing of the Redistribution Bill.—Reuter.

The riots on April 5 were the result of charges of manipulating funds against the Prime Minister by a former Minister for Finance. A howling mob surrounded the House of Assembly and Sir Richard Squires had to make a retreat through a side entrance. The crowd ultimately broke into the House and destroyed furniture and documents.

The Government party refused to order an investigation into the charges.

Sir Richard was later mauled by a mob in the street and went into hiding, refusing to resign.

U.S.A. AND BRITISH BUDGET

THE MORATORIUM TO END

Washington, Apr. 20. The fact that Mr. Chamberlain did not make provision for instalments of the American debt has aroused no official comment, though Senator Reed, who is regarded as the Government spokesman made a statement in the Senate in which he said:

"I am convinced that provision will be made for the payments due to us in December."

It is considered unlikely that President Hoover will initiate a new war debt and reparations moratorium on June 30, when the present moratorium expires.—Reuter's American Service.

COST OF BATTLE.

JAPAN'S VOTE FOR MILITARY EXPENDITURE

Tokyo, Apr. 20. The War Office is negotiating with the Finance Office for 205,000,000 yen to cover the estimated military expenditure in Shanghai and Manchuria for the period from June to next March, allowing for the despatch of reinforcements, if required.

The Finance authorities are considering the issuance of bonds to meet the expenditure. A final decision will be reached in time for presentation at the extraordinary Diet session on May 23.—Reuter.

The pieces of iron appeared to be fragments of a smashed iron grating, and were sufficiently uniform in size to make it appear as if they had been done for the specific purpose of being embedded in the mixture.

His Worship, after examining the fragments of a rolled out tin,

The coroner said that there were no traces of an ignition apparatus, and remarked that there were several ways by which a bomb could be ignited. It might explode by concussion, ignition by a length of fuse and detonator, by a lever and firing pin similar to the Mills bomb, or in other ways.

In the present case there were no fragments of fuse or detonator, no fire pin, lever, glass fragment or portions of clock work or any other mechanical device. Witness suggested that it might have exploded by the cover being forcibly levered out. That opinion was not merely surmise as they had had explosions by that means in Hongkong in the past.

No Eye-Witnesses.

Before calling the next witness the Police officer remarked that all the witnesses would say that they arrived on the scene after the explosion. There was no evidence of people who might have been passing at the time.

The No. 1 corollie of the Cathedral said that on the morning in question the staff had gone about their daily duties as usual. He had himself gone to the belfry and was ringing the bells when he heard the explosion. He rushed down without completing his duties in the belfry and went to his quarters where he told his wife that there had been an explosion. Shortly afterwards the elder brother of witness appeared and said a man had been killed.

Witness remarked that few days before the explosion a quantity of rubbish had been burned in the compound near Garden Road. He had noticed nothing near where the bomb had exploded.

The coroner said that there had been an explosion.

The coroner observed that the bomb was certainly in the wrong place if anyone had wanted to injure any of the Cathedral Staff.

The hearing was adjourned until this afternoon.

The coroner said that there were no traces of an ignition apparatus, and remarked that there were several ways by which a bomb could be ignited. It might explode by concussion, ignition by a length of fuse and detonator, by a lever and firing pin similar to the Mills bomb, or in other ways.

"MISSING" BARONET RETURNS

REAPPEARS AFTER
19 YEARS

London, Apr. 21. The piquant reappearance of a baronet who has been "missing" for over nineteen years, occurred yesterday when "Francis Lawrence John Barrow," the fourth Baronet, who is 70 years of age in August, gave notice at a London Register Office of his forthcoming marriage.

The discovery of Sir Francis Barrow recalls the fruitless S.O.S. broadcast in January last year when his son was critically ill.

In an interview, the returned Baronet declared that he relinquished the title twenty years ago and parted from his wife, carrying on the profession of an architect.

He kept himself informed of his family's doings and actually lived unrecognised near his son's home. Late last night "Mr." Barrow dramatically telephoned to his sons and one daughter. He succeeded his father in 1900.—Reuter.

MISCARRIAGE OF JUSTICE

ANOTHER BREWER
INDEMNIFIED

Benguella, Apr. 20. A verdict of not guilty, an order for the costs to be refunded and for the grant of an indemnity of £1,800, were the results of the retrial to-day of Mr. A. J. Brewer, a British ship's officer, who was arrested at Benguella in 1927 and convicted of petty theft, spending a year in prison.

The re-trial was due to energetic British diplomatic action with the Lisbon Government.

Brewer always denied his guilt, insisting that it was a case of mistaken identity.—Reuter.

LITTLE PRINCESS' BIRTHDAY

PARTY AT WINDSOR
CASTLE

London, Apr. 20. H.R.H. Princess Elizabeth will spend her 6th birthday to-morrow at Windsor Castle, where her grandparents, the King and Queen, are in residence.

The King's chef has baked a birthday cake, decorated with six candles, for the tea party, at which Their Majesties, the Duke and Duchess of York, their youngest daughter, Princess Margaret, the Prince of Wales, with the Princess Royal and Lord Harewood, and their two sons, will be present.—British Wireless.

SECOND BRITISH BUDGET

DEPENDENT UPON
LAUSANNE

London, Apr. 20. Mr. Stanley Baldwin, replying to a Parliamentary question as to the desirability of having a second budget after the Lausanne and Ottawa Conferences, said he was unable to go beyond the Chancellor of the Exchequer's statement that proposals might have to be submitted to Parliament later to give effect to the measures agreed upon at Lausanne.—British Wireless.

"RED" JOHNSON DEPORTED

LINDBERGH AFFAIR
SEQUEL

(Reuter's Special Service).

New York, Apr. 20. Henry ("Red") Johnson, Colonel Lindbergh's former chauffeur, has been deported to Europe aboard the liner Europa.

It will be recalled that he was closely questioned by the immigration authorities when the Lindbergh baby was kidnapped.

Lawrence's "Red Boy," the famous painting in the collection of Lord Durham, for which a bid of £55,000 was refused at an auction this week. Photo is from a copy by Kobza.

CUP FINAL

ARSENAL'S TEAM
CHANGES

JAMES AND HULME
INJURED

(Reuter's Special Service).

London, Apr. 21. The distinction of being the youngest player ever to appear in the English Cup final will fall to Albert Beasley, the 18-year-old Arsenal outside right, who is replacing Hulme in the Arsenal eleven on Saturday against Newcastle. The change is necessary owing to the fact that Hulme is on the injured list.

Beasley has so far only played twice for the Arsenal, but he is one of the calmest members of the team training at Brighton.

The inability of James, the Arsenal's wizard inside-left, to play has caused the deepest disappointment.

The Newcastle team to-day went to Whitley Bay to get a sniff of the North Sea breezes.

The teams have selected as follows:

Arsenal:—Moss; Parker, Hapgood; Jones, Roberts, Male; Beasley, Jack, Lambert, Bastin and John.

Newcastle:—McInroy; Nelson, Fairhurst; McKenzie, Davidson, Weaver; Boyd; Richardson, Allen, McMenemy and Lang.

PARKED CARS MAY BE LOCKED

BRITISH BAN BEING REMOVED

London, Apr. 20. The Transport Minister announced in the House of Commons the removal, as an experiment, of the restriction on locking motor cars in parking places.

Hitherto locking has been forbidden so that the police could if necessary move stationary cars. It is hoped that the amendment of the regulations may curb the activities of car thieves.—British Wireless.

BANDIT CRIMES

ANOTHER MANCHURIA
OUTRAGE

Harbin, Apr. 21. Seven bandits yesterday raided the station of Harbin, near Yamen, robbing the station of all cash and seriously wounding the stationmaster.—Reuter.

DE VALERA GOES AHEAD

BILL FOR ABOLITION OF THE OATH.

London, Apr. 20. De Valera's Bill to remove the obligation of the Oath of Allegiance upon members of the Free State Legislature was given a first reading in the Dail this afternoon.

Mr. Blythe, a member of the Cosgrave Party, announced that he would submit an amendment at a later stage. The second reading has been set for April 27.—Reuter.

NEXT WORD JAPAN'S

ALL OVERTURES
REJECTED

Geneva, Apr. 21. China having accepted the resolution of the Committee of Nineteen, giving the Mixed Commission the right of deciding when the Japanese troops can withdraw with safety from Shanghai, the next word rests with Japan.

H. Hyams this afternoon endeavoured to persuade Mr. Nagaoaka to agree, but he declined to consent to any course seeming to transfer the negotiations from Shanghai to Geneva. Mr. Nagaoaka has telegraphed to Tokyo for instructions.—Reuter.

QUID PRO QUO SUGGESTED

MORNING POST AND TEA DUTY

London, Apr. 21. With the re-imposition of the duty on tea no man of sense will quarrel, declares the Morning Post. In a leading article, pointing out that the recent influx of Dutch Colonial tea has resulted in disorganisation, involving the British Empire industry in severe losses.

Expressing the hope that the mischief will now be undone, the Morning Post comments that it would be hardly fair that a Colony like Ceylon, whose tea is to enjoy valuable preference in the British market, should not give corresponding advantage to British trade in Ceylon.—Reuter.

POLICE COUP IN SHANGHAI

GANGSTERS IN THE NET

(Special to "Telegraph")

Shanghai, Apr. 21.

Terribly distressing scenes, with the women spectators weeping unrestrainedly, marked the evidence of Mrs. Massie, wife of Lieut. Massie, who is charged with murder in the "Honour Slaying Trial."

Mrs. Massie is only twenty-two years of age, and the ordeal of giving evidence of the outrage committed upon her was almost more than she could stand.

She sobbingly related the harrowing details of the assault, stating, among other things, that members of Kuahawei's gang laughed and talked while the assault was committed.

Mrs. Massie finally broke down and her mother, Mrs. Fortescue, jumped up and asked counsel for the defence, Mr. Clarence Darrow, to cease his questioning.—Reuter.

SHARES MUSSOLINI PRIZE

Rome, Apr. 20.

Sir Aldo Castellani, the well-known authority on tropical diseases, is among four recipients of the Mussolini Prize of 50,000 lire for special distinction last year.

Director of Tropical Medicine and Dermatology at the Ross Institute and Hospital, Sir Aldo is chiefly known for his discovery of the otological effects of sleeping sickness and yaws, for the elucidation of the etiology of several other diseases, and for description of new tropical diseases and their causes. He was born in Florence in 1876.—Reuter.

LONGEST AIR LINE IN WORLD

SPECIAL PLANES BEING BUILT

London, Apr. 20. It is expected that the first of eight four-engined passenger monoplanes of lightweight airframe construction, designed for the Imperial Airways Cairo-Cape.

The entire investigation of the affair is now virtually in the hands of White Guard elements. There have been mass arrests of Soviet citizens, 30 of whom, according to reliable reports, have been subjected to torture.

MA CHAN SHAN.

The Tass Agency has also been authorized to refute the reports regarding the alleged stay of General Ma Chan-shan at Blagovestchensk and his alleged connexion with the U.S.S.R.

These reports, it is stated, are pure inventions. General Ma has been neither to Blagovestchensk nor to any other point in Soviet territory. The rumours of connexion between General Ma and Soviet representatives are absolutely false.

Authoritative circles consider that these rumours originate from the same source as those spread five months ago, when the Japanese supplied munitions to General Ma from Dairen and proceeded to charge the U.S.S.R. with having done it.

SO-CALLED REBEL ARMIES

Harbin, Apr. 20. According to Chinese reports, General Wang Deling has been appointed commander-in-chief of the old Kirin Army, which is now called the People's Patriotic Army. General Lin Du has been appointed his second in command.

General Ting Chao has refused to join these forces and it is presumed that he will operate with General Ma Chan-shan.—Reuter.

MINERS' HOURS PROBLEM

NEGOTIATIONS AGAIN URGED

London, Apr. 20. The President of the Board of Trade, Mr. Walter Runciman, in an interview with representatives of the Miners' Federation, urged the resumption of negotiations with owners on the hours question, which is governed by the Act exploring on 8th July.

Later, Mr. Runciman met the Mining Association, which is the owners' organisation, and urged them to play up the demand.

The inauguration of the London-Cape air route, showing the machines now employed.

Town route will be ready for preliminary trials within the next few weeks and that the entire fleet will be in service towards the end of the year.

The fleet is being constructed by Armstrong Whitworth Aircraft Limited of Coventry, at a cost of £150,000 each.

The machines will weigh over eight tons, of which over two tons will be available for the accommodation of the crew, passengers, mails and goods. The maximum and cruising speeds will be respectively 150 and 120 miles hourly and a feature of the new machines is that they will be able to alight at 50 miles an hour. With the new machines in commission, the London-Cape Town flight may, in due course, be reduced from 11 to 9 days.

CAPE FLIGHT RECORD

FAST TIME BY TWO FRENCHMEN

Capetown, Apr. 21. The French airmen, Goulet and Salo, flying from Le Bourget and landed this morning, thirty-nine minutes after midnight, completing a record flight from Europe to the Cape.

They flew via West Africa, following much the same route as Millson, and completed the journey in three days, nineteen hours, despite encountering headwinds and whirlwinds over the Sahara.—Reuter.

Two further cases of meningitis were noticed yesterday, both from Victoria, as well as two cases of typhoid fever.

CONTRACT BRIDGE.

By W. E. McKenney,
Secretary, American Bridge
League.

Appreciated Everywhere

In the straight forcing system, slams are arrived at when intelligent bidding between partners reveals that the combined two hands hold seven or eight quick tricks. Seven to seven and one-half quick tricks in the two hands will generally produce a "small slam, while eight to eight and one-half quick tricks will generally produce a grand slam.

The beginner at contract should remember, however, that there are many pitfalls on the road to a successful slam—such as distribution, duplication of values and so forth. An almost certain small slam should not be jeopardized for a doubtful grand slam, and it is better to miss the few slams that come up in an evening than to sacrifice the many game bonuses. Again let us warn you that there are thousands of points more lost in each year in unsuccessful slams than are won with slams that are bid and successfully made.

Sacrifice Bidding.

Sacrifice bidding plays an important part in the game of contract. You should familiarize yourself with contract scoring so that you can readily sum up the possible number of points a pair will make if their contract is successful, and by contract bidding, you may be able to take a worthwhile sacrifice.

Very often you are called upon to choose whether to double the bid of an opponent or to bid for game yourself. Under the present contract scoring, the various scores are roughly valued as follows:

A partial score of 40 points or more, due to the advantageous position it gives you, is worth about 200 points.

The first game (or first leg), is worth about 400 points.

The rubber game (or second leg) is worth about 600 points.

A successful small slam, if not vulnerable, is worth about 1,000 points.

A successful small slam, if vulnerable, is worth about 1,400 points.

Contract rubbers average to run between 900 and 1,000 points.

It does not generally pay to take over a 600-point penalty at any time.

The proportion of contract scoring to auction is about two and one-half to one, although contract rubbers generally average to last a longer period of time, which might reduce this figure to two to one.

When a side is vulnerable and they make a game-going declaration which you double, the swing can easily average to be worth two average rubber games;

therefore, don't double doubtful contracts, especially when it will give them game. Partners will soon learn that through sound bidding they can accurately determine the number of high card tricks in their hand, and there is not much guess work in penalty doubles.

Analyzing the straight forcing system, we find that:

1.—Four card suit bidding plays an important part.

2.—Original bids must show de-

sensitive quick tricks.
3.—Quick trick showing plays the most important part.
4.—Forcing bids must be kept open until game is arrived at.
5.—Original two forcing bids should not be made unless prepared to go to game even though partner has a trickless hand.
6.—When partner makes an original bid and you have sufficient quick tricks to produce game, you should make a jump shift bid which is a forcing bid.
7.—No trump bids, until re-bid, are generally denial bids.

the dime-a-dance air BY JOAN CLAYTON

BEGINS HERE TO-DAY.

Beautiful Ellen Rossiter, a salesgirl in Barclay's Department Store, lives with her mother, Molly Rossiter, her older sister, Myra, and her young brother, Mike. Their two girls' savings account from Mrs. Barclay, the money saved to pay the rent, Steven Barclay, Ellen's employer, lends her an evening dress so she can secure a job nights dancing at the "dime-a-dance" hall. She meets the fascinating Larry Harrowgate, an artist. Later she breaks an engagement with Larry when he learns he is engaged to Elizabeth, a wealthy society girl, and returns home to England demanding an explanation she makes another date with him for Sunday. Her mother and sister favour Larry, and the next morning Ellen and her mother quarrel when the girl declines an engagement with Larry. Molly bursts into tears and Ellen, repentant, promises she will do her best to fall in love with the older man.

CHAPTER XII

"How do you know it's Mr. Barclay?" Myra demanded as Ellen leaped from the bed, reached for a flannel dressing gown and belted it over her pyjamas.

"He asked yesterday if he might call her some time."

"Did you give him Mrs. Clancy's number?"

"No, but I guess it's on file. He must have looked up my card at the store."

The bedroom door opened and Molly entered. She was visibly excited. Her black, curly hair stood out in little drake-tails. Her blue eyes blazed. For once she had not even taken time to powder her pretty face.

"Hurry, child," she said to Ellen. "You mustn't keep Mr. Barclay waiting. It's bad enough having go home."

Again Ellen felt a rising irritation. "What makes you so sure it's Mr. Barclay?" she snapped.

"I've got a hunch," Molly admitted, dimpling and smiling mysteriously. "Don't be so slow, honey."

"I can't run through the hall with no stockings on, can I?"

Ellen took a quick brush at her hair, slipped into pumps and ran out of the apartment and down the four flights of stairs. The only telephone in the house was in Mrs. Clancy's apartment on the first floor. The six families who occupied the building were, in the generous phrase of Mrs. Clancy, "perfectly welcome to use the phone so long as they pay for outgoing calls."

"Who is it?" asked Molly. She thought she knew the answer. A look of complete astonishment crossed her face when Ellen corrected the impression.

"But Ellen!" she cried in dismay. "What about Mr. Barclay?"

For all the world like a master of ceremonies, she said, "Right this way." Then after she had shown Ellen where the telephone was (as if Ellen had not known before) she quietly settled herself in the vicinity of the conversation. Unfortunately for the listener the conversation was extremely short. Ellen replaced the receiver, presented her thanks and prepared to leave. Mrs. Clancy saw a golden opportunity fading.

She said quickly and ingratiatingly, "Was that the rich fellow your mother was telling me all about?"

"I don't know who you mean," Ellen replied coldly.

"Sure you do," said Mrs. Clancy, chuckling. "I mean Mr. Steven Barclay, your boss. Your mom said he was fairly daft over you."

Ellen had to smile.

"Yes, it was Mr. Barclay," she admitted to the other's evident pleasure.

She even added, "Mr. Barclay wanted me to go driving with him this afternoon."

"I heard you saying that you don't want to," Mrs. Clancy confessed.

"That's too bad. It's such a nice day for an automobile ride."

"Yes, it is, isn't it?" Ellen agreed and made her escape.

Ellen returned to the bedroom. Myra was dressing but Molly had collapsed on the bed and was nibbling at a bit of toast. Both fell abruptly silent at Ellen's entrance and she realized that they had been discussing her. Let them, thought Ellen grimly.

"Won't you tell us about your call?" asked Molly, after a delicate interval of silence. "Or is it a secret?"

"There's nothing much to tell," said Ellen airily. "It was Steven Barclay. He wanted me for a drive this afternoon."

"Ah!" said Molly.

There was another interval of silence. Myra looked sharply at her sister but Ellen's gaze was bland and innocent. Presently she said to her mother; "I'd like to invite a friend to supper."

"I'm sorry, too," conceded Molly.

Turning to Myra she said plaintively, "Would you mind, honey, getting me some coffee? Lots of cream and I like it weak. Would you be a lamb and make a fresh pot?"

Of course Myra would. But as she walked to the kitchen she was

"What about him?" repeated Ellen. "You said he'd asked you for a drive."

"So he did. I told him I couldn't go. I can't either. I have a date this afternoon with Larry. I thought it would be nice to bring him here afterwards for supper."

Molly shifted tactics. "I would like to have your friend for supper," she said, her eyes clear and limpid, "but it's out of the question, honey. There's not a clean tablecloth in the house for one thing; they're all at the laundry. Besides Mrs. Clancy is coming up. I've already asked her."

Ellen suspected that her mother was being perverse. She was sure of it when Molly with an aggrieved air remarked that she supposed a daughter of hers would have too much pride to want to see a man already engaged to another woman. She struck home there. But she was not content to let the matter rest.

"Personally I think it rather odd of the Harrowgate boy to ask you for an engagement under the circumstances," said Molly. "In my day it would have been considered dishonourable."

"You don't know whether it's dishonourable or not," Ellen said angrily, ignoring her own secret doubt. "Larry has no way of knowing that I might consider the fact that he is engaged important. I don't consider it important. Like him—that's enough! This isn't the Victorian age after all."

"There's no use discussing it," observed Molly lightly. "We wouldn't agree, I'm sure."

Molly Rossiter could, when she chose, adopt the most exasperating mood in the world. She chose just then to adopt that mood. When Ellen asked her to meet Larry, Molly remembered a previous engagement to go walking with Mrs. Clancy. Mrs. Clancy was a great aid to Molly in managing her daughters. Whenever they made a request she did not wish to grant Mrs. Clancy, in one way or another, became a ward in her charge. Ellen understood that as did Myra. But the family rules forbade any mention of the fiction.

"I'm sorry you can't meet him," Ellen said at last with cold finality.

"I'm sorry, too," conceded Molly. Turning to Myra she said plaintively, "Would you mind, honey, getting me some coffee? Lots of cream and I like it weak. Would you be a lamb and make a fresh pot?"

"When there is a chance of roping in a rich man," Ellen interjected furiously.

"It's just as easy to love a rich man as a poor one," Molly agreed placidly, ignoring the storm sibilants. "There were dozens of other

HOW THE LEAGUE COULD AID CHINA.

PELA BY CHAIRMAN OF CHINA ASSOCIATION.

London, Apr. 20.

A strong plea for cooperation between China and the League of Nations was made by Mr. S. F. Meyers, the Chairman, at the annual meeting of the China Association.

He declared that the League had been called upon to participate in solving a problem of international peace in the Far East endangering the world. The League could help China with men and money, and would not seek to establish foreign control in China but to show her how to control herself. He meant League tutelage and not tutelage, namely expert teaching of the arts of modern government without a vain attempt at Guardianship.

China could benefit much from outside assistance, while there was no doubt as to the advantages the west would obtain from a rehabilitated China.

With internal peace, the Chinese share of world trade, both as a producer and a consumer, would increase greatly.—Reuter.

ANOTHER ARREST

KREUGER'S ACCOUNTANT CONCERNED

Stockholm, Apr. 20.

There has been a fourth arrest in connexion with the Kreuger affair, the auditor of the Kreuger and Toll company being apprehended to-day.

The other arrests were of three co-directors of Mr. Ivar Kreuger, head of the companies that crashed after his suicide in Paris. Charges of falsifying the balance sheets were brought against them.

The accountant's name is given as Wonder. He is a chartered accountant who, with two others was elected by a meeting of shareholders in 1930 to audit the company's accounts.—Reuter.

MEN SENTENCED TO THE "CAT."

ROBBERY CASES CLOSE AT SESSIONS

Two robbery cases were dealt with by Mr. Justice Wood at the Criminal Sessions, yesterday afternoon, one man, Chan Kwai, being charged in connexion with both of them. In both cases accused blamed a man named Tsang Hung, who, they said, asked them to go with him and commit the robberies.

In the first case the accused were Tsang Po and Chan Kwai, the charge against them being that on February 28, 1932, at Yaumati, with others unknown, they together robbed Lok Ping of two coats; Tong Ngan of two gold bracelets, two gold wrist watches, two gold earrings and $29 in money; Lo Shiu-kam of two gold-mounted rattan bracelets, a gold chain, a satin coat and $8 in money. Second count against Tsang Po only: On February 28, 1932, at Yaumati, he received a gold ring, the property of Tong Ngan, knowing it to have been stolen.

Both men pleaded guilty, and Mr. T. S. Whyte Smith, for the Crown, stated that neither man had a previous record.

His Lordship sentenced both men to five years' imprisonment and twelve strokes with the "cat."

Second Case.

Chan Kwai also figured in the second case as second accused, the first accused being Leung Fuk-po. The charge against them was that on February 2, 1932, at Mongkok, with another unknown, they together robbed Kwan Sau-tseen of 720 pairs of socks, three pairs of stockings, an overcoat, a cardigan and $30 in money.

Both men pleaded guilty and Mr. T. S. Whyte Smith said that nothing was known against Leung Fuk-po.

Addressing Chan Kwai, his Lordship pointed out that he had already sentenced him to five years, and for this offence he would be sentenced to a further two years, to run consecutively with the previous sentence, making seven years in all.

Chan Kwai: I would prefer your Lordship to sentence me to death by shooting than send me to gaol.

His Lordship sentenced Leung Fuk-po to five years' imprisonment and twelve strokes with the "cat."

borrow could not have taken a more optimistic view of the position, and shown some reflection of that attitude by granting relief to those whose sacrifices have made it possible for him to report such a sound position.

The situation is, of course, rendered somewhat uncertain by reason of the fact that the war debts and reparations issues still remain unsettled. The Budget contains no provision under these headings. Everything will depend in this connection on the outcome of the Lausanne Conference. If, as is indicated, Mr. Hoover does not intend to extend the moratorium, a further complication will be introduced, but it is obvious that there can be no really worldwide trade revival until reparations and war debts have been finally got out of the way. How and when that will happen, time alone will show. In the meantime, these obligations and expectations have to be kept in suspense so far as British finance is concerned.

Trade Wars.

At the present moment when there is still much talk of persuading the Powers to declare a boycott upon Japan, it might be enquired whether anybody has any adequate notion of how such a boycott should be organised and enforced. Very considerable as is the trade between Britain and Japan, at its largest it engages the attention of comparatively few British business houses. In 1930 Britain bought from Japan £8,064,000. Exports to the same country were £8,229,000. Imports are almost wholly of silk; exports largely of machinery and manufactured goods. Should Britain, either independently or in connexion with the League, declare a boycott, it would mean imposition of heavy loss, probably of bankruptcy, upon a group of importers and manufacturers. What would be the attitude then towards this limited class upon whom would fall the entire cost of disciplining Japan? Would its loss be made good from the treasury? When a nation goes to war its young men within certain age limits become universally subject to conscription. They endure on the battlefield incredible sufferings, and even sacrifice of their lives. Long acquaintance in this form of barbarism has elevated it to something like a religion, and youth is expected to be satisfied by being told that it is sweet and glorious to die for one's country. There are signs of revolt against this theory. But up to the present time, it has not been permissible under the law to seize the property of individuals for warlike purposes without due compensation. Those of us who have urged that there is no sacredness to property which does not accrue even in higher degree to human life, and that therefore capital, wealth, should be as subject to conscription as man power, have been told that under the Constitution this is impossible. It may be true. But if it is impossible would it be possible to put the entire burden of disciplining a refractory and aggressive nation, Japan or any other, upon the limited group of business men having trade relations with that country? We do not know that this matter has ever been adjudicated. We doubt indeed whether it has ever been given serious consideration by the authorities. To-day there is certainly enough discussion of a boycott to justify some sort of official declaration as to how and at whose expense this trade war, only relatively less costly than war of the usual sort, could be waged.

Speaking generally, it must be conceded that Mr. Chamberlain's Budget is featureless when contrasted with the emergency proposals put forward last September by Lord Snowden. The situation then, with a prospective deficit of £74,000,000, called for drastic remedies, and these were certainly applied to good effect. Indeed, the Snowden plan, which completely changed the outlook, yielded nine millions more than was expected. This naturally simplified Mr. Chamberlain's task. Boiled down, the new Budget suggests the likelihood of deficit of £1,700,000 on the basis of existing taxation, but even on the moderate estimates put forward, there is a prospect of a surplus of £796,000 when the proposed new taxes come into operation. The position is satisfactory, but in view of the heavy burden of taxation under which the people of the Old Country are still struggling, it might reasonably have been hoped that some relief would have been afforded. Instead of that, it looks distinctly probable that living costs may go up as a consequence of the tea-tax proposals. It may be sound finance, in face of continued uncertainties, to consolidate the financial position and ask the people to be patient a little longer, but there is such a thing as straining the patience of the taxpayer, who, on Mr. Chamberlain's own admission, has saved the situation by his sense of duty and citizenship. It is admittedly something to be proud of that, at a time when other nations are finding it impossible to balance their budgets, Britain should have so well managed her financial problems as to come out on the right side. But the question does arise whether Mr. Cham-

Sir,—In reply to "Home's" letter in your issue of the 18th instant, as I am sure that his prejudice against Hongkong women is due to the fact that he has been snubbed by them, I would ask him to take his defeat like a good sportsman, and give honour to whom honour is due:

THE AIR-WIDOWER

By GERARD FAIRLIE

A NEW FORM of blackmail is being used against me. As usual I am the victim, but the villain in this case, is my wife. Let me put it on record that I am an airwidower. When I make a complaint I am told that this state has come upon me of my own choosing. To a certain extent I suppose this is true: my wife has learnt to fly and flies on every conceivable occasion, and behind that statement lies the whole truth of my depressing situation.

Obviously, since she has learnt to fly, she likes flying; equally obviously, since I am an airwidower, I loathe it. I am told that I can put an end to this state of affairs at any moment by agreeing to fly and taking an interest in the air.

In point of fact I have always taken a very great interest in the air ever since machines of my own making, with wings cut from some daily newspaper and attached to the fuselage by means of stamp hinges, occasionally reinforced by match sticks and secured, tried to make the perilous crossing of the burn at the bottom of the garden. But these machines had one inestimable advantage over the aeroplane of today; I was not expected, and indeed could not, have gone up in them.

So it will be clear that this method so confidently recommended to me in order to end my premature widowhood is one which I cannot accept. I must find another way.

When I point out this indisputable fact to my wife she asks me for the reasons which have brought me to this emphatic refusal to fly. I have three definite objections to the aeroplane of today, apart from the one (personal inclination) which in itself would keep me out of the air.

They are Speed, Visibility, and Noise.

There are various other smaller objections. I resent, for instance, the distinct possibility that I might be asked to start up the aeroplane by swinging the propeller. Why all aeroplanes should not be fitted with self-starters I cannot conceive, in view of the fact that a perfectly efficient starter is actually on the market. Experts object to the suggestion on the grounds that a self-starter means added weight.

This is indisputable, but the added weight is so very small and is not sufficient to interfere with the efficiency of the machine in view of the added safety and added convenience. A propeller at speed can do infinite damage to something far more resisting than myself.

But the pursuit of safety seems to be about as far from the aeroplane designer's mind as Australia is from England; in other words, just-about as far as it can be.

Let us look at the first of the three objections which I have mentioned above—the question of Speed. Every aeroplane, as all the world over, is now air-minded (this according to my wife), has a certain speed below which it cannot safely fly; and another speed, a few miles per hour slower, at which it cannot fly at all.

Aeroplane designers have been engrossed in making aeroplanes

My second objection—the lack of visibility in the modern aeroplane—is most important one to me. I get into an aeroplane; I rise into the air and I see absolutely nothing except struts and planes and bits of engine. Occasionally I catch a glimpse of the horizon, and it is usually at such an angle that I wish I hadn't seen it. I am told that it is not long before a pilot recovers from this feeling and is able to see comparatively well, but the range of vision is definitely limited to a degree which does not seem to me to be compatible with safety.

Collisions in the air are by no means unknown, and many of these could have been avoided had a clear vision been allowed the pilot by the designer. In this the modern aeroplane has gone back definitely from those produced at the beginning of the war by the brothers Farman.

And then there is this question of noise. Silence is too heavy and therefore they cannot be used. I am prepared to admit that this is the least of my troubles when in the air, and that perhaps it cannot yet be overcome. But some day it will be possible, and I have not noticed that the trend of modern aeroplane engine construction is any way towards silence.

No—I am a severe critic of those in whose hands the evolution of aircraft depends. If I saw that they were trying to do some of the things which I have suggested I might conceivably go up once a year just to encourage them, but at the moment I prefer, because of my personal safety, and my personal comfort, to remain on the ground.

MEN & WOMEN IN ARGUMENTSPARKLING Y.M.C.A.
DEBATELADIES' TRIUMPH

A magnificent closing speech by Miss Curtin proved the deciding factor in the vote at the Y.M.C.A. debate last night, and following the brightest and most entertaining discussion of the season, the lady speaker won the day and secured the acceptance of the motion "That the Professions have been improved through their adoption by woman," by 53 votes to 34.

From the opening address of the proposer, the debate attained a high standard of whimsical, witty and trenchant argument, and the wordy duel between the men and women provided one of the most entertaining evenings of the winter programme of the Y.M.C.A.

Miss K. P. Curtin, who proposed the motion, pointed out that through the ages woman had lent many professions her powers of stimulation, inspiration, sympathy, tact, intuitive discernment and passionate determination, unacknowledged of men save by the rare few. In support of this Miss Curtin mentioned Cleopatra, who made such successful excursions into the realm of politics, the Queen of Sheba, Queen Elizabeth and Queen Victoria. In the realm of art they had Salome in ancient times and Pavlova in modern times as examples of women who had contributed much to the dance, while in literature there was Sappho in ancient Greece, Jane Austin, the Brontes, Alice Meynell and many others in modern England. In dramatic art there was Mrs. Siddons, Duse, Dame Ellen Terry and Dame Sybill Thorndike, although it had to be recognised that woman's creative work in the Arts was only just beginning, and it would have to be left to future ages to decide the full extent of her powers in this field.

Woman's Special Qualities.

The speaker went on to refer to the obvious value of women in the nursing, medical and teaching professions, and said that in the legal profession woman brought special qualities, particularly that subtlety so essential to the legal mind. Shakespeare had himself immortalised her powers in this direction in his characterisation of Portia.

Finally Miss Curtin attributed the following qualities to woman, showing how, through them, she was improving the professions:—Moral and physical courage, fortitude, incredible endurance of pain and hardships, determination, reliability and devotion to duty.

Mr. A. E. Jeffries, who led the opposition, was in a humorous mood, and gave the audience the benefit of some of his wittiest observations and epigrams. He quickly got down to his points. "Are there among you any who, having to undergo a serious operation, would go on the table content in the knowledge that the knife was being held by a woman?" he asked. In navigation and engineering, women had only encroached, as they had in the other professions, but had added nothing to them. The teaching profession had been the fashion for women for many years, yet he would bring before them the pitiful case of a woman to whose lot it fell the task of fitting the speaker (Mr. Jeffries) to meet the world! In the kindergarten, women teachers were necessary, but to say that the teaching profession as a whole had been improved by women, well...

Women Must Bleat!

Mr. Jeffries later gave a few reasons why women could never improve the professions. She lacked decision, he said. A woman could make up her eyes, her hair, her lips, her cheeks, but never her mind! Woman lacked solidity, being a slave to fashion in all phases of life.

Woman was so logically constituted, physically, that she could not expect to be so mentally as well. Remind a woman of the scientific fact that her brain-weight was less than a man's and you would incur her wrath, but point out to her that her feet were smaller than yours, and she became your friend for life. Woman's greatest strength was her weakness. Let them rest content that always it would be that men must work and woman must bleat!

Miss H. M. Knill seconded the motion. She argued that the fact that women were being better educated and were now able to take their place in the professional work of to-day, participating in the intellectual, moral and physical interests of the nation, but with the feminine attitude of mind towards the problems that arise in the professions, had of necessity broadened the field of scope

London, Apr. 20. Lord Snowden, replying to a debate raised by Lord Lloyd in the House of Lords on the Government's trade policy with the Russian Government, said he was not satisfied with the disparity between imports and exports of Russian trade. He had made representations to the Soviet Government and had insisted that as far as it could, steps should be taken to lessen it.

An advisory committee should be given powers to deal with further guarantees for credits for trade with Russia for more than 12 months, without attaching more stringent conditions than in the past.

Negotiations regarding the extent of the credits to be given were in progress, and the policy of guarantee would only be continued if it assisted British industries.—British Wireless.

OPIUM SMUGGLER CAUGHT*POLICEMAN FIRES A SHOT

An attempt to land 190 taels of raw opium from a sampan on the beach opposite Green Island yesterday was detected by a policeman in plain clothes who was patrolling the beaches in this locality. He fired two shots and a man, who had jumped into the water, evidently with the idea of making the sampan fast to the shore, took flight and fled, pursued by the policeman. Further up the beach, the fugitive was caught by an Indian watchman guarding the cable-hands.

The prisoner was charged before Mr. Schofield at the Central Police Court this morning with the possession of illicit opium. He was fined $3,000 with the alternative of nine months' hard labour.

for the professional man. She had opened up new channels of interest and research, exactly doubling his sources of information and enabling him to do more adequate work for his clients by revealing to him another and very different point of view.

Superstition and Quackery.

Mr. D. J. S. Crozier supported the opposition, and after dealing with the various arguments of the ladies, concluded by saying that the entry of woman into the professions was not for their improvement, rather it was going to reintroduce the quackery, the superstition, the jealousy and the ill-omen, which mere man had done so much to eradicate. He concluded with the following paradox:—"At this debate tonight, with so many ladies present, the greatest argument in favour of the motion would be its defeat!"

After a number of comments had been made from the audience, Mr. Jeffries and Miss Curtin replied, both making extraordinarily fine speeches, and the vote was then taken.

The chair was taken by Mr. P. S. Cassidy, who announced that the function was the last debate of the session to be organised by the Literary and Debating Society.

WILLIAM POWELL LTD.*SUBSTANTIAL PROFIT DISCLOSED*ANNUAL MEETING

The firm of William Powell, Limited, made a profit of $20,746 on its general working account for the year ended April 12th. This was disclosed in the annual report and balance sheet of the Company presented to the 31st ordinary general meeting of shareholders held this morning.

In the absence of the chairman of the Board of Directors (Mr. E. M. Raymond), Mr. J. H. Seth presided. Others present were Messrs. A. Nissim, H. Seth (directors), S. H. Ross and H. J. M. Figueiredo (shareholders) and W. L. Alexander (secretary).

Chairman's Speech.

Mr. J. H. Seth said:—Before proceeding to report upon the affairs of your company, I have to record, with feelings of deep regret, the loss we have sustained by the death of Mr. Manuk on the 7th instant. Mr. Manuk joined the Board on September 1922 and has served the company as a director continuously since then. His death is a great loss to the company as his large and varied business experience enabled him to take long views, and suggest practical solutions to most problems.

Mr. F. E. Skinner resigned his position as acting secretary at June 30 last and Mr. W. L. Alexander was appointed secretary.

It is gratifying to be able to report that in both our outfitting and tailoring departments, sales have not only been maintained, but increased, and this is reflected in the general working account which shows a profit of $20,745.77 for the year as against $16,718.50 for the previous year.

The year under review has seen violent fluctuations in exchange and although, in common with other stores, this necessitated adjustments in selling prices, we have, I am pleased to say, maintained our reputation for supplying the best at a moderate price.

During the year we sold our investments at a profit of $3,577.83 and this amount has been placed to the credit of profit and loss account.

Heavy Depreciation

In order to bring stocks on hand into the books at present replacement values, depreciation has been fairly heavy, but your directors feel that this is wise, and a policy that will meet with your approval.

Turning to the balance sheet, under assets you will see that stocks on hand and in transit at February 29, 1932 amounted to $121,746 as against $126,301.000 at 28th February 1931, and that the item "Investments at Cost" has disappeared.

Under liabilities, general reserve account has been increased by the amount appropriated at the last general meeting and stands at $12,500.00. Sundry creditors are $16,956.66 as against $14,665.70 at February 28 1931, and bank overdraft is reduced from $27,177.65 to $163.08.

Premises Sold.

The premises now occupied by us have been sold and in terms of our lease we must deliver up possession on September 30th, 1932. So far we have not been offered suitable premises to move into but the matter is receiving your Directors' careful attention.

I will now move "That the report and accounts as presented be adopted including the payment of a dividend of 20 cents and a bonus of 10 cents per share to shareholders on the register at April 12, 1932, to place to the general reserve the sum of $7,500 and to carry forward the sum of $5,346.17."

Mr. Nissim seconded the motion which was carried.

Other Business.

Mr. Figueiredo moved and Mr. Ross seconded a motion for the confirmation of the appointment of Messrs. J. H. Seth, A. Nissim and H. Seth to the Board of Directors.

This was carried unanimously.

Mr. E. M. Raymond was re-elected to the Board of Directors.

Messrs. Linestad and Davis were re-elected auditors at a remuneration of $225.

Professor R. Robertson, Professor of Economic and Political Science, Hong Kong University, will deliver a lecture on "Machiavelli" on Monday, 25th Inst., at 8.30 p.m. in the Union Assembly Hall, H.K.U. University. The lecture is open to the public.

Mr. M. J. Breen returned from leave yesterday by the s.s. Chital and re-joined Mr. E. W. Hamilton as Postmaster-General to-day. It is stated that Mr. Hamilton will succeed Mr. J. D. Lloyd as superintendent of Imports and Exports.

PIECEGOODS CASE DEFENCE*MONS. DELCOURT'S EVIDENCE

Evidence for the defence was heard in the Supreme Court this morning before the Chief Justice (Sir Joseph Kemp) in the action brought by Messrs. Pinguet and Company, No. 5, Queen's Road Central against Messrs. Compagnie Optorg, of Shanghai and Prince's Building, Hongkong. Plaintiff is claiming $3,105 as damages for alleged breach of agreement to prevent a price war in the marketing of fancy suitings.

Mr. F. C. Jenkins, K.C., is for plaintiff, while Mr. Eldon Potter, K.C., is defending.

Giving evidence for the defence, Mons. Delcourt stated that in 1926, Messrs. Optorg sold 60 cases of suitings at $4.30 while plaintiff only sold ten. In 1927 Optorg sold 90 and plaintiff sold 26.

It was not until he met Mr. Pinguet on the ferry in February, 1928, that they had discussion as to competition, but Optorg's chop was better known than Pinguet, who found they had to sell five cents cheaper. He also remarked, "Do you realise we are the playthings of the Chinese and if we do not come to an arrangement between ourselves they will be able to put our prices up or down as they like?"

Friendly Arrangement.

As a result of the conversation said witness, they came to a friendly arrangement on the basis of a policy of mutual support, but there was no agreement between them binding Optorg's to sell at five cents more. On the contrary, said Mons. Delcourt, he considered he was entitled to sell at the same price as plaintiff if he wished.

Witness said it never entered his head that he was entering into a binding contract, and he had never looked at it in that light. It was merely a friendly arrangement for mutual support in the market.

He continued that he acted on the arrangement, but in 1928-29, a Chinese competitor entered the market and plaintiff's price suffered in consequence but Optorg's did not suffer to the same extent.

Mon. Delcourt said, he advised Mr. Pinguet to hold on a bit in case he could get a better price and Mr. Pinguet said he would do so.

Price-Cutting.

Witness continued that he went to Shanghai and returned to Hongkong September, 1929, when he made his usual courtesy calls on his business acquaintances in Hongkong, going also to Mr. Pinguet's office.

At that office, witness said he was informed by Mr. Pinguet that he had given a guarantee to his compradores and brokers for their selling the suitings at five cents cheaper than whatever Optorg's price was. When witness pointed out that that course was against their mutual support arrangement and the master should have been talked over, Mr. Pinguet said he had taken that course to encourage his compradores and brokers to get orders.

Mr. Pinguet then referred to the No. 2 quality suitings and asked whether it was to be a price war or not. In dealing with subsequent developments, witness said that one day Mr. Pinguet rang him up and started to abuse him in French. "I have not the English vocabulary," said witness, "to translate it into English."—(Laughter).

To Spill Market.

Mr. Potter remarked that Mr. Pinguet did not agree with that contention, it was not true.

Witness further said that Mr. Pinguet threatened to spoil the market for the No. 1 suitings by underselling Optorg's as much as 20 cents a yard if witness sold the No. 2 quality at $4.30 a yard instead of a higher price, which, price witness explained, he could not obtain from the dealers.

After that, witness told Mr. Pinguet that if he was going to be hostile it would mean that they would have to break all business relations, and after that he (witness) acted carefully, as his confidence in Mr. Pinguet had been shaken.

The case is proceeding.

EXAMINE YOUR INVESTMENT DOLLARS CAREFULLY

Now, more than ever before, it is important that you safeguard your investments as carefully as possible to make sure of their security and the greatest possible return.

We are in a position to help you do this—we have behind us a record of more than twenty years of useful and profitable service to investors.

While our business operations are confined to Shanghai itself, there are many Hongkong investors who appreciate the liberal return and safe investment provided by our 8% debentures. Because we believe that others will welcome the opportunity to share in this investment opportunity, we propose in a series of advertisements which will appear in the Hongkong Telegraph, to give complete information as to our policy and operations.

This Statement of Policy is of Interest to Every Real Estate Investor in the Far East!

In the conduct of our business, we pursue a well formulated and consistent policy which makes our company distinctive and sets it apart from most other concerns having to do with the real estate business.

The basic principle of the policy lies in the fact that we are realtors, or real estate agents. As such we act as the medium for bringing together buyers and sellers, receiving our compensation from the commissions received on sales which are made. We only purchase land for resale in the case of a forced sale or sale made under circumstances where it is possible to make a purchase for quick resale at a satisfactory profit. In making these purchases for our own account, we have always been guided and actuated by two principles. The first is that as we are, in none of our activities, in competition with our clients, and we do not purchase for our own a property desired by a customer. The second is that, as we are not speculators in real estate, we do not make purchases in anticipation of profits which might come from increased values of the future, except when from advance information of improvements, and/or, strategic locations with no prospective buyers, and then we purchase with the basic idea of a quick turnover with reasonable profits to the company, allowing clients to make money.

This policy is based on sound business reasons. We are dealers in, not purchasers of, real estate and as dealers it is our first duty to serve our clients. If instead of handing on to our clients the choice purchases which are available, we took them for ourselves, we would be betraying their confidence and would lose the position of trust we hold to-day and cease to be the real estate market place of Shanghai. When a prospective purchaser of real estate comes to us, he may rest assured that our honest duty to help him make the best investment possible is not obscured by any desire on our part to build up real estate holdings for ourselves.

The value of real estate sales we have negotiated, the increasing number of investors who come to us unsolicited as the natural and logical place to come when wishing to invest in real estate shows that a very large portion of the investing public is familiar with our policy and appreciates how its consistent application safeguards their interests.

MANAGEMENT OF ESTATES.

It is for a similar reason that we are handling a growing amount of business as the managers of estates, taking care of the leasing of houses, apartments, godowns, etc., collecting the rents and taking care of the other details which go with the management of property. Here again we have no motive but to serve the best interest of our clients. We can manage these properties as if they were our own because we have no competing interests. We have no rental properties of our own; no residences, apartments, tenements or godowns. The property owners whose estates we manage know that of the many who come to real estate headquarters as prospective tenants none will be diverted from the premises owned by them because of a desire to gain revenue from property owned by ourselves. In the rental as in the purchase of property, we are not in competition with our clients.

The growing amount of business we do in the arrangement of real estate transactions as well as the management of estates quite naturally has made this company the headquarters for the negotiation of mortgages. Very few purchases of real estate are made without a mortgage for a part of the purchase price and as the administrators of so many estates it is natural that the landlords should come to us when they need financial assistance for the purchase or development of properties.

Secretary,
China Realty Company,

NOT ONE CENT OF LOSS.

In the negotiation of mortgages as in the purchase of real estate and the administration of estates we are not in competition with investors who come to us to secure good investments. Of over $100,000,000 of mortgages which we have placed, a very large part has been with the funds of others who have received the full interest paid on the loan, our compensation coming from the commissions and the turnover of capital. On the other hand, for a difference in interest which yet allows normally 8% to investors, we are prepared to stand behind every mortgage we negotiate, guaranteeing the repayment of both principal and interest. As a matter of fact, every cent of principal and interest due on mortgages we negotiated has been repaid.

Our very successful mortgage department rounds out and completes our service to investors in Shanghai real estate. We provide the means to purchase property, to administer it and to help finance it.

OUR INVESTORS.

Another phase of our activities has to do with the investing public, that is the holder of our 8% debentures on which the interest is payable semi-annually. We believe that those who furnish the capital on which the company is enabled to do increased business should participate in the profits—that the most successful concerns of the future will be those who recognize this principle—that even banks will allocate to depositors a part of profits earned on their money over and above current rates of interests. As our balance sheets show quite plainly the proceeds from the sale of our debentures is not used for the purchase of real estate, as we are not speculators, but for investment in first class mortgages, amply secured not only by the value of the land pledged as security but as a further security the fact that the debentures constitute a first claim on the total assets of the company. An analysis of the figures involved shows that every debenture has behind it assets equal to three times its value.

Were it not for the position of confidence gained through the consistent policy to which we have adhered, and the volume of unsolicited business which has come as a result, we could not thus complete our service by offering the man who wishes to invest in debentures an opportunity to share with us in the prosperity of our business by paying debenture interest of 8%.

S.W.B. CHAMPIONS

FINAL MATCH OF THIRD DIVISION FOOTBALL

The South Wales Borderers are champions of the third division of the Hongkong Football League, for although they drew with the Royal Air Force in the last match of the season, yesterday, it did not alter their position on the top of the list. The game was scheduled to start at 4.30 p.m., but at 5.15 the official appointed to referee had not arrived, so the captains agreed that Mr. J. Gomes should officiate.

The game ended in a one-all draw and the result places the Borderers and R.A.F. in the respective positions of winners and runners-up. It was a curious coincidence that the last game of the season should be drawn, as it was the first drawn game in the division.

P.W.D. v Sanitary Dept.

The Hon. Mr. H. T. Creasy and Mr. G. R. Sayer were interested spectators at the match played yesterday on the Hongkong F.C. ground between teams chosen from the Public Works Department and the Sanitary Department, the result being a win for the P.W.D. by the odd goal in three. There was a large attendance, each department being well represented and each movement was closely watched by their respective supporters.

The Sanitary Department pressed from the kick-off, and early in the game took the lead through Tavelin. The P.W.D. fought back gamely and scored through Moore. The teams were level at the interval. The P.W.D. had the better of the exchanges in the second half, Moore again netting to win the match.

The game resulted:-P.W.D., 2; Sanitary Dept., 1.

At the close of the game the teams were drawn up before the stand. The Hon. Mr. Creasy presented a "Cup" to the winners and a "Shield" to the losers.

HOCKEY CHAMPIONS.

HELD TO A DRAW BY THE Y.M.C.A.

The Radio Sports Club, champions in the Mamak Shield Tournament, engaged at King's Park on Tuesday evening, and contrary to all expectations, were held to a draw.

The Y.M.C.A. men played well to hold the fast Radio forwards, but their attacking line was not too strong. G. Singh scored for the Radio in the first half of the game, Radio in the second half, Moore again netting to win the match.

Police Team Beaten.

A team from the Police were beaten by H.M.S. Cumberland, at King's Park by four goals to nil, the losers playing one man short, throughout. Harrington scored twice and Tollop and Andrews once each.

MACAO RACE MEETING.

FIXED FOR MAY 8 AT THE MACAO COURSE

Following a meeting of the stewards of the Macao Jockey Club on Tuesday, it was decided that the Second Extra Race Meeting of the Macao Club, which was twice postponed, first on account of the meningitis epidemic in the Portuguese Colony, and for the second time last Sunday because of inclement weather resulting in the Fanling course being flooded, will be held on Sunday May 8 in Macao.

All handicaps for the seven events of the meeting, which have already been published, will hold good, and ponies winning races subsequent to April 17 will be eligible to race at the meeting.

Bombay, Apr. 20. A beautiful English girl, Miss Formashy, a native of Yorkshire and former wife of an Arab prince will marry Shaukat Ali, the Moslem leader here on April 21. Miss Formashy is a recent convert to Islam.

Shaukat Ali is to lecture in America later in the year. His terms are reported to be the most lucrative ever offered an Oriental.—Reuter.

NUDIST CULT IN HONGKONG.

WHAT SIR ROBT. HO TUNG THINKS

"It is too much ahead of the times," was the personal opinion of Sir Robert Ho Tung, when asked about the nudist movement in Hongkong on his arrival in Singapore en route to Europe. "It is moving pretty fast there, and there has been much correspondence about it, but I have not been able to follow the question up as I have been very busy. But I think public opinion is very strong against the mixing of the sexes."

"At present," he continued, "it has been chiefly supported by a section of the European population, with a Mr. H. E. Lane part as their head. But I do not think the Chinese will adopt it for a long time to come yet. You know what the Chinese are with regard to the sex question. I do not think that movement will be successful among the Chinese unless each sex is separate. From the Chinese point of view they think they can find other means of benefiting their health besides going nude."

Sir Robert then touched on the modern Chinese girl. With a smile he said it was not an easy subject to talk about. He thought they were progressive and very up-to-date. "On the whole their modernisation is a step in the right direction," he went on. "They are much more enlightened, much more educated, take to modern ideas very well and, on the whole, behave well. Sometimes, of course, they have too much freedom, but that is to be expected."

"We should like to see the Chinese modernised, but with this reservation—that they keep their own traditions. The Chinese have some very fine traditions."

LADY'S HANDBAG STOLEN

LAD FOUND GUILTY AT KOWLOON

Giving his age as 14, but looking older, Lau Kam-yuen, a ratty worker, was charged before Mr. Fraser at the Kowloon Magistrate this morning with the theft of a handbag, the property of Mrs. E. Kutz, a passenger on the Empress of Russia lying alongside Kowloon Wharf.

Prosecuting, Detective Inspector Elston said Sultan Mohammed, an Automobile Association scout, was standing at the car-park in Stanley Road yesterday morning when he saw the defendant holding a ladies' handbag and stuffing money into his pocket. His suspicious were aroused and he questioned the defendant, who thereupon ran away, but was chased, caught and taken the Water Police Station. The contents and the bag were worth $400 (Hongkong dollars).

Defendant denied the charge, saying that he was given the bag by a coolie, who told him to wait for him in Stanley Road.

After hearing the evidence, his Worship convicted the defendant.

Inspector Elston said that from inquiries made by the police, it appeared that defendant's parents were dead. He had been sent from the country to Hongkong by his grandfather, who intended him to be a ratty work, and with this end in view, put him in a ratty shop in Canton Road. He was dismissed about six weeks ago for being lazy.

His Worship decided to send the defendant to the S.C.A. for further enquiry and postponed sentence until Saturday.

CINEMA SCREENINGS.

NOTES SUPPLIED BY THE THEATRES.

Naturally, you like an old-fashioned rip-snorting melodrama, filled with fast and exciting action. Everybody does. Do not fail to see "Graft".

You are going to be thoroughly interested in a young man, who in the line of duty, accuses a beautiful girl of murder and then works like Sam Hill to clear her so he can marry her. Particularly when this young man is Regis Tomney.

The story is told against the background of a newspaper editorial room on the eve of an important election, and lays bare the tricks and devices of crooked politicians.

The final cast includes beside Regis Tomney, beautiful Sue Carol, Dorothy Revier, Boris Karloff, Richard Tucker, Carmelita Geraghty and many others. You will enjoy every minute of "Graft", which is showing at the Central Theatre to-day.

Susan Lenox.

"There's only one in a hundred who dares to wear a fashion that is new and original," quotes Adrian, designer of the costumes Gretna Garbo wears in her latest Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer picture, "Susan Lenox, Her Fall and Rise," which will be shown at the Queen's Theatre on Sunday.

"Too conservative, too modest is the typing the majority of women come under," continues Adrian, who is enthusiastic over the twenty-two creative costumes he has completed for Miss Garbo.

"Therefore it is such a pleasure to find someone of Miss Garbo's temperament—one who appreciates that something new."

One remembers that when the whole world was going about with a cropped hair bob, Miss Garbo appeared with a shoulder-length hair style. Those who saw her picture, "The Woman of Affairs," will also recall that Miss Garbo appeared in Hollywood's first pair of lounging pyjamas in this production.

And now, when Miss Garbo's new picture is shown on the screen, the feminine audience will be treated to a lavish display of dresses and suits and wraps—also pyjamas and negligees—each of original and different stylings.

One will recognize the decidedly different silhouette of her evening dresses. Whereas they are now fully flared from knees to floor, Miss Garbo's evening gowns graduate from the slender hip line to the ankles in a Grecian effect with hidden pleats arranged to give comfort in walking.

Also her pyjamas vary from the present styles in that they show narrow trouser cuffs in place of the extremely wide patterns now shown.

"A Holy Terror."

Notwithstanding that she is a direct descendant of Mary, Queen of Scots, and that her father was a member of the Royal family of England, Rita La Roy, beautiful screen actress, is one of the most democratic young women of the film colony. She appears in "A Holy Terror," Fox picture now showing at the King's Theatre.

After financial reverses overtook her father, Miss La Roy found it necessary to find employment. She designed clothes, did interior decorating and is frank enough to confess that she even waited on table when times were hard. "And I could do it again if it became necessary," she declared recently.

Miss La Roy served her apprenticeship in a stock company at Portland, Oregon; Seattle, Washington and Vancouver, B.C., had a try at vaudeville on the Orpheum circuit and played roles in several travelling companies before she turned to pictures in 1929, first appearing in "Dynamite." Since then she has played prominent character roles in "Sin Takes A Holiday," "Travelling Husband," and "Midnight Mystery."

George O'Brien, athletic and handsome leading man portrays the featured role and divides the love interest with Sally Eilers in "A Holy Terror." Other notables in the cast are Humphrey Bogart, James Kirkwood, Stanley Fields, Robert Warick, Richard Tucker and Earl Piegrass.

The picture was directed by Irving Cummings.

Brilliant Drama.

Remarkably played by one of the finest casts ever seen on the talking screen and produced in notable fashion, John Galsworthy's immortal drama "Beacons" will be given its first showing at the Queen's Theatre to-day. It is undoubtedly one of the most brilliant and thrilling film productions of the year.

"Beacons" has proved a most powerful play in its numerous presentations on the legitimate stage, but the screen providing a wider scope and allowing a great range of pictorial treatment is by far the better medium for the Galsworthy master piece.

Miss Dresser will be recalled for her talking roles in "Lightning," "Caught" and other recent productions. Miss Gombell scored success in "Bad Girl" and "Sob Sister" before she was assigned to her role in "Stepping Sisters" and Miss Howland is famed for her role of "Mabel" in "The Gold Diggers" on the stage and for her performances in such pictures as "Hook, Line and Sinker," "The Cuckoo" and "The Virtuous Sin."

Few liberties were taken in the adaptation of the play. The action has been unchanged and additional dialogue kept admirably in the spirit of the original. "Beacons" is one play which has proved ideal for direct screen treatment.

Capt. Matt Denant, world war hero and London clubman, is the central figure of the story. Defending a woman against a boorish official of law, Matt strikes the policeman. The officer hits a railing in falling and is killed. He is convicted of manslaughter and is sent to Dartmoor prison. With his health rapidly breaking and rebelling against the prison routine, Matt is successful in his long-planned escape. His flight through the English countryside and the chase by police introduces a score of thrilling and dramatic events, winding up one of the most powerful climaxes ever shown on the screen.

Sir Gerald du Maurier, well known as one of the greatest of legitimate stage stars, plays the lead and makes it an outstanding characterization.

Brilliant portrayals are contributed

QUICK WORK

BAG FOUND BEFORE LADY REPORTS LOSS

A Chinese youth who is alleged to have stolen a handbag containing bank notes worth $400 Mex., from the Empress of Russia was arrested yesterday before the owner of the bag was aware of her loss, owing to the smart work of an Indian Inspector of the Automobile Association.

Mrs. James F. Kutz, a passenger on the Empress, which arrived about 10 a.m. yesterday told the police that she lay down to rest in her cabin at 10:30 a.m. prior to going ashore. She placed her handbag containing the money on a vacant bed in her cabin. She then fell asleep and on waking later discovered that her handbag was missing. She telephoned the Water Police Station only to be informed that a Chinese had already been arrested with a bag and notes in his possession. She went to the Police Station and identified the bag and notes as her property.

The Indian Inspector said he was at the car park at Kowloon Point, about 11 a.m. when he noticed a poorly dressed Chinese youth walking past the European Y. M. C. A. carrying a European style handbag. He questioned the Chinese and took him to the Water Police Station.

CORRESPONDENCE.*The First Gas Attack.

[To the Editor, Hongkong Telegraph.]

Sir—I do not know on what authority Mr. Dovey stated in his interesting "Chemistry" speech that when poison gas was first used in France 80,000 respirators were made and shipped within 27 hours of the sample being obtained. The gas was first used on April 22, 1915, and it was almost at once reported to be chlorine. By the evening of the 24th, a limited number of respirators made by Belgian civilians were sent up to the trenches, but for many days most of the troops facing the gas cylinders were without any means of protection and it was not until May that the respirators from England were issued to them.

This is not intended in any way as a disparagement of the British chemists. But it so happens that next Friday, the seventeenth anniversary of this gas attack, a short account of the battle will be given on the wireless, and listeners will have difficulty in reconciling the above statement with what actually occurred. If it is correct, either the experts took an inordinately long time to confirm that the gas was chlorine, or else the Army authorities were criminally negligent in delaying the issue of the respirators. Even when the latter arrived they consisted of mere strips of cloth which, in the absence of chemicals, were recommended to be treated with any liquid available in the trenches.

H.M.S. Kent, which had aboard the 2nd Battalion of the Argyll and Sutherland Highlanders, arrived at Hongkong from Shanghai at 11 a.m. yesterday and moored at No. 6 buoy. The work of disembarking the Argylls was commenced at 2 p.m., they being transferred to the shore by launches.

The Argylls left Hongkong early in February at the commencement of the Shanghai trouble, and were stationed at Shanghai throughout the disturbance, taking part in the defence of the International Settlement.

H.M.S. Kent will go into the naval dock at the end of the week to be refitted. It is not known yet whether she will participate in the annual cruise of the Southern China squadron, which commenced on Tuesday, when H.M.S. Medway departed from Hongkong.

Scottish Cup Thrills Dashing Display by Rangers

SEVENTH VICTORY

Glasgow, Apr. 20.
Glasgow Rangers defeated Kilmarnock in the Scottish Cup Final replay by three goals to nil in a match full of thrills to-day.

Over a hundred thousand spectators saw the Rangers win the Cup for the seventh time.

The excitement throughout was intense. It was, indeed, so great sometimes that the referee had to caution the players of both sides for allowing bad temper to creep into the game.

Kilmarnock's goal had an extremely narrow escape in the very first minute, the Rangers commencing with a spirit which suggested that they were not likely to be denied victory on this occasion. Nibloe (who Rumour has it is likely to be playing for Chelsea next season) miskicked in the goal-mouth and nearly let the Rangers in.

Relentless Pressure.
The Kilmarnock defenders were subjected to relentless pressure and in the tenth minute opened the scoring. English's overhead kick was punched clear by Bell, but Fleming, rushing in, netted with a fast drive from just outside the penalty area.

Aitken fired a long shot in a Kilmarnock revival, but Hamilton had no difficulty in clearing. This was the first time that he had handled the ball in the first quarter of an hour's play.

Again Kilmarnock found themselves up against it. Their defence was stout, but Morton found Fleming a hot handful. There was no further scoring before the interval.

Second Half.

The second half was singularly lacking in sensational incidents. The Rangers attacked strongly; Archibald, Marshall, McPhail and Fleming putting in clever work individually, but being unable for some time to penetrate a splendid defence.

Kilmarnock enjoyed a bigger share of the game for some time, forcing the Rangers' inside forwards to drop back to assistance of their defence. Eventually, however, the Rangers forwards again struck a happy harmony and McPhail scored after 25 minutes play in this half, English getting the third goal ten minutes later.

The Teams.

Alan Morton was out of the Rangers team for this match, the sides lining up as follows:

Rangers:—Hamilton; Gray, McAvay; McEldowney, Simpson, Brown; Archibald, Marshall, English; McPhail and Fleming. Kilmarnock:—Bell; Leslie, Nibloe; Morton, Smith, McEwan; Connell, Muir, Maxwell, Duncan and Aitkin.—Reuter.

M. Andre Tardieu, the French Prime Minister, giving an interview to journalists.

THREE PREMIERS TO MEET

DISARMAMENT PARLEY

RAMSAY MAC. IN PARIS

Paris, Apr. 20.
Quite a surprise has been created by M. Tardieu's sudden decision to accompany Mr. Ramsay MacDonald to Geneva, despite the electoral campaign.

The decision is taken as an emphasis on M. Tardieu's sense of urgency that he should be at Geneva simultaneously with Mr. MacDonald, Dr. Bruening and Mr. H. L. Stimson.

No communiqué was issued after the meeting of M. Tardieu and Mr. Ramsay MacDonald at the Quai D'Orsay which lasted forty minutes, but M. Tardieu told journalists that they had discussed everything, especially Geneva.

The Main Topic.

From this statement, it may be inferred that disarmament was the main topic. M. Tardieu did not display pessimism regarding the disarmament outlook.

The British Prime Minister

presided at the usual weekly Cabinet meeting this morning and after luncheon left by air liner for Paris in wet and boisterous weather. He had arranged in advance to meet M. Tardieu this evening. His journey to Geneva, where he will make an important speech at the Disarmament Conference, is being continued tonight. Before leaving London he was seen by his occultist.

FALL OF AMOY IMMINENT

CHANG CHEN IN RETREAT

The fall of Amoy to General Sun Lien-chung is expected hourly. General Chang Chen's army is retreating in disorder before the "rebel" army.

H.M.S. Devonshire, which is standing by in Amoy, sent the following message to the local naval authorities this morning:

General Chang Chen's army has split up into two main portions. One portion is retreating southwards in the direction of Changpu, with General Chang Chen, and other is retreating northwards in the direction of Tungan.

A certain number of civilian refugees are landing on Kulangsu and small bodies of armed troops, presumed to be those of General Chang's army, are landing in junks and motor boats in the vicinity of Shihuan. They are being evacuated seaward in steam launches, presumably under the direction of Admiral Li, whose gunboats are at present patrolling the waters at Amoy and Kulangsu.

Boat traffic is prohibited by the Chinese naval authorities between 2 a.m. and daylight. The local situation is quiet.

Geneva Resolution.

In the General Commission of the Disarmament Conference at Geneva, the British delegate, Sir John Simon, moved that without prejudice to other proposals for discussion under later heads, the Conference declares its approval of the principle of qualitative disarmament, namely, the selection of certain classes or descriptions of weapons, with a view to prohibiting by international convention their possession or use by any State.

He expressed the view that qualitative disarmament was more effective as the most important thing was that no State should continue to live under a system in which all classes of armaments were allowed.

Rival Plans.

A proposal on the lines of Sir John Simon's resolution is before the conference in the plan put forward by Italy and the United States. Another plan for the international control of certain armaments has been advanced by France. The Yugo-Slav delegation supported the latter scheme to-day and Sir John Simon's resolution was approved by the German delegate, Dr. Nadoyin. It was also supported by Sir Thomas Wilford, New Zealand, and Signor Grandi, Italy. The debate was adjourned until to-morrow.
